Latins Are Favoring Red Trade

Bleak Economy Seen as Reason

By E. L. ALMEN
The Associated Press

Economic pressures appear to be blasting holes in Latin America's reserve toward any deals with Russia and its satellites.

This week an official Argentine trade mission headed for the Communist-ruled lands of Europe.

In Brazil, largest and most populous of Latin American nations, important voices were being heard in favor of trade with Soviet Russia.

Source Irrelevent

Chile, likewise, was warming to the idea of closer trade and cultural relations with the Soviets despite lack of diplomatic links.

The Argentine mission head, Undersecretary of Industry Raul Ondarts, has stressed his country's need for capital goods, especially oil industry equipment. He contends that the source of the needed goods is irrelevent.

Economists estimate Argentina needs at least a billion dollars in foreign credits to get back on its feet after the dictatorship of Juan Peron. Only a fraction of that amount has been obtained in the free world.

Brazil is apprehensive over the possibility of a severe economic depression brought on by falling coffee prices. That apparently is the motivation for current moves to talk trade with Russia.

Russia has offered Brazil oil equipment and technical assistance. This went over big with Brazilians who refuse to permit foreign private oil companies to develop the nation's untapped oil resources.

Seeks Relations

The Soviet Union also wants to renew diplomatic relations which Brazil broke in 1947 because of Soviet attacks on the government of President Eurico Dutra.

Steadily declining copper prices have prompted a revision in Chile's long-standing distaste for dealings with the Communists.

Income from copper exports account for more than 60 per cent of Chile's budget and falling prices have brought severe economic strain.

While the free world took all of Chile's copper production the government refused to deal with Iron Curtain countries. Now, however, the ban on copper sales to Soviet Russia has been lifted. And the atmosphere between Chile and

Benson Is Hopeful Of Lower Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today he sees "a good chance" that Congress will authorize the reduced farm price support minimums requested by President Eisenhower.

Benson said he was "not discouraged" by the hot reception he and the President's program got yesterday at a public hearing before the Senate Agriculture Committee. Some senators challenged Benson's sincerity and the accuracy of some of his statements.

Two Doubt Authority

Although Benson expressed optimism about prospects for the administration's new farm program, Committee Chairman Ellender (D-La) and Sen Thye (R-Minn) predicted in separate interviews that Congress never will grant his request for authority to set price props on the basic crops and dairy products between 60 and 90 per cent of parity.

The present minimum is 75 per cent of parity, a legal standard for farm prices said by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs. The basic crops are cotton, wheat, corn, rice, tobacco and peanuts.

Ellender said lower price support minimums haven't "the ghost of a chance" of winning congressional approval.

"I can't for the life of me see how it is possible to improve the lot of the farmer by reducing his prices," Ellender said.

Thye predicted "we'll never cut supports below 75 per cent."

Benson told newsmen he would concede that "in a campaign year, a political year," like this one he could not flatly predict passage of the full 14-point program, much of which is controversial. He added:

"I am confident that if we had a Republican Congress we'd get this program through."

Returning Next Week

At the worst, Benson said, "I think Congress will pass a large part of this"—with a good chance for passage of all of it "if we can get it out of committee."

Ellender ordered Benson to return for more questioning by the committee next Wednesday, with instructions to be prepared to be more specific on some points.

Main controversy at the day-long hearing surrounded two key points—the Benson-Eisenhower appeals for authority to reduce minimum price supports and to increase planting allotments for cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco as much as 50 per cent above levels now provided, if the markets were available.

Ellender and some other senators contended that the two points just would not fit together, and that supports may be too low now.

IBM Gross Volume Hits One Billion

The gross volume of business of International Business Machines Corp. for the first time in its history exceeded one billion dollars, according to Thomas J. Watson Jr., president, who today announced the preliminary results for 1957.

Watson reported that the gross income for 1957 from sales and service and rentals in the United States amounted to $1,000,431,597 compared with $734,339,780 in 1956.

Net income for the year ended December 31, 1957 after federal income taxes amounted to $89,291,589 which is equivalent to $7.73 a share on the 11,552,460 shares outstanding after the 100 per cent stock split effected May 7, 1957 and the 1,050,223 shares of additional stock sold through the rights offering which ended June 10, 1957. The net income after taxes for 1956 was $68,784,510 equal to $6.55 a share on 10,502,237 shares outstanding December 31, 1956 adjusted for the split up of May 7, 1957.

During 1956 the corporation changed its method of computing depreciation for rental machines produced since January 1, 1956 from the straight line to the sum of the years digits method. This change resulted in a reduction of net income after taxes amounting to $11,438,518 for 1957 and $4,264,688 for 1956.

For the year ended December 31, 1957, the net income after taxes includes $3,927,000 derived from the outright sale to customers of punched card accounting and data processing machines previously under lease to them, Watson said.

Ex-Boxer Held In Rensselaer Market Holdup

RENSSELAER (AP) — Police held a former Upstate Golden Gloves boxing champion and another man today and accused them of staging a $20,000 holdup of a supermarket here

The men, Limmie Hudson, 34, of Schenectady, and Harold R. Morton, 27, of Albany, were arrested last night. Morton, the exboxer, was at his home and Hudson on a Schenectady street. Neither resisted.

Both men are Negroes.

They were to be arraigned in city court today on first-degree robbery charges.

Police said Edward Romanzo, night relief manager of the supermarket, and five other employes had identified the men as the bandits.

They were arrested after the witnesses had picked out their photographs from police files, officers said. Both men have records.

Morton was Adirondack AAU Golden Gloves champion about 10 years ago in the 135 and 147-pound classes.

Passage Is Forecast of Debt Rise

House Ballot May Come on Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speedy House passage is expected next Tuesday for an administration bill to raise the national debt limit temporarily from 275 billion to 280 billion dollars.

The bill was approved, 20-3, yesterday by the House Ways and Means Committee a few hours after Secretary of the Treasury Anderson testified that government cash balances "have been distressingly low at times" in the last six months.

Sees 'Tight Position'

House leaders indicated they anticipate no concerted opposition to the measure.

Anderson emphasized what he called the "tight position" under a 275 billion dollar ceiling by saying he expected federal cash balances in commercial banks to drop as low as 250 million dollars by early February.

That would be less than a single day's needs since the Treasury pays bills amounting to 1½ billion dollars every five-day work week. Generally, Anderson added, the Treasury likes to have at least a three billion dollar balance.

House passage of the bill would send it to the Senate where Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee has set a hearing on the matter for Jan. 27.

278 Limit Beaten

Before yesterday's final vote in the House committee, Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis) proposed a new ceiling of 278 billion dollars. That suggestion was shouted down.

The proposed new legal ceiling would be in effect until June 30, 1959. Anderson told the committee he did not expect the debt—now standing at more than 274 billion dollars—to exceed 275 billions before the end of the present fiscal year on June 30.

But, he added, the debt might rise to 278 billions next fall when tax revenues drop off seasonally.

Tillson Educators Come Out Again For Consolidation

Members of the Tillson School Board of Education reiterated their unanimous vote to be a part of the proposed Consolidation District during a meeting Friday night.

The meeting was called in view of the developments regarding the Greater Kingston Area Consolidation vote.

It was reported in The Freeman Friday that there is a good possibility that a vote on the consolidation proposition may be held within six weeks.

According to W. K. Wakeley, chairman of the board, the school board has urged each qualified voter of the school district to sign the consolidation vote petition which is now being circulated.

Anyone in the district who has not been contacted by Sunday may sign by going to the school between 1 and 3 p. m.

The New York State Bridge Authority will seek legislation raising its debt ceiling in order to proceed with construction of the Newbrgh-Beacon Bridge, The Freeman learned today.

At a meeting of the Authority in Poughkeepsie Friday afternoon formulation of bills to lift its debt ceiling above the present limit of $50 million was discussed.

Present at the meeting were Assemblymen Watson Pomeroy of Dutchess County, Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County, and William E. Brady of Greene County, Senator E. Ogden Bush, Albert Abrams, representing Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Orange County, and Cushman McGee, bond counsel for Trespitch Bonding Co., of New York City. $542 Loot Is Taken At 6 Gas Stations

Burglars apparently concentrated their efforts on service stations in two sections of the city during the night as local police reported today six establishments were entered and a total of $542.36 was taken from three of them.

Reported entered were:

Tidewater Oil Service Station, Flatbush and Foxhall Avenues; Boulevard Gulf Service Station, Greenkill Avenue and Fair Street; Ashdown Service Station, Greenkill Avenue and the Boulevard; Zates Bros. Service Station, Flatbush and Foxhall Avenues; Art's Esso Servicenter, Flatbush and Albany Avenues, and Murphy's Esso Station, the Boulevard and South Wall Street.

Discovered Today

Officers Charles McCullough and Anthony Turck, who investigated the reports, said about $360 was taken from the Boulevard Gulf station; $62.36 from Ashdown's station, together with an undetermined amount of cigarettes, and $120 from Murphy's.

The thefts were discovered this morning when employes or owners opened the service stations for business.

Report of a theft from the Tidewater station was made to police at 6:52 a. m.

Officers Turck and McCullough reported a pane of glass had been broken in the lubrication room of the station and a latch had been lifted on a window.

Tobacco, Papers Taken

Entry was made by unlatching supply room doors, the officers reported.

They said three pound cans of tobacco and papers were taken and cigar boxes had been strewn over the floor. There was no report of money being taken.

A report at 7:05 a. m. said entry to the Boulevard Gulf station was made by breaking a window in the wash rack room. The officers said a latch on the window had been raised and entry made through it.

The officers investigated a report received at 8:04 a. m. that Ashdown's station had been entered.

It was later reported that $58.86 had been taken from a cash drawer, and $3.50 from a

Anjopa Mill May Reopen In 30 Days

Following a meeting in New York City earlier this week arrangements are underway to reopen the Anjopa Paper Mills at Napanoch. It is expected the mills will be ready for operation within a month, it was said. About 25 creditors of the company attended the meeting at which a compromise settlement was arrived at. It is expected a payment of 17½ cents on the dollar will be effected.

A group of 10 individuals headed by Sidney Gursey and Allen Ducker of New York are expected to put up $150,000 in cash to get the mills in operation. Of that sum $75,000 is to be spent in new equipment and repairs at the mills. The remainder is to be used as working capital, including payment of back wages of some $9,000.

A schedule of payments to creditors is being worked out, with 5 per cent to be paid in 90 days.

Meanwhile, Joseph DiCandia, who was unsuccessful in securing bail pending an appeal from a conviction had in Federal Court for his part in the former Home National Bank of Ellenville, has been transferred from the Federal House of Detention to the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary to begin service of the sentence imposed. William A. Rose, former president of the defunct bank, also is at Lewisburg penitentiary serving sentence.

SLA Reserves Decision on Minor Sale

The State Liquor Authority reserved decision on Friday following a hearing in Albany in a case against The Barn, a tavern on Route 28 just west of Kingston.

The charge involved the alleged sale of alcoholic beverages to a minor early last December.

Others Involved

Three other taverns allegedly involved in the serving of alcoholic beverages to a 17-year-old Kingston youth, Craig Spence, December 6 have pleaded "no contest." They are Nicholas Mazziotto and John Crevino, doing business as Pantony's, Route 299, New Paltz; Willard Mertine, doing business as New Paltz Tavern, 46 Main Street, New Paltz, and James Spinella, doing business as North View House, Route 299, New Paltz.

John Gagliardi, owner of Kozy Tavern, 224 Foxhall Avenue, charged by the SLA with selling alcoholic beverages to a minor and to an intoxicated person, requested a hearing on the charges when he appeared recently before the authority in Albany.

Appearing before the SLA yesterday were Robert Teetsel, proprietor of The Barn, Attorney Sherwood Davis, representing Teetsel, several character witnesses, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of Old Dutch Church, young Spence and his mother, Mrs. Raymond Countryman of 180 Henry Street.

Decision Due Soon

It is reported that the SLA decision will be placed in the mail in the near future.

Spence charged that he was served alcoholic beverages at four county establishments on December 6 when he was accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Oudemool to test widespread rumors that minors (persons under 18) could obtain alcoholic beverages at almost any bar in Ulster County.

Unaware of Serving

Gagliardi was cited by the SLA apparently as a result of the arrest of an unidentified 16-year-old youth on December 15 on a charge of public intoxication.

Gagliardi said at the time "We are unaware of having served the boy and we intend to contest the charges."

The youth was arrested by lo-

Electrol Employe, H. J. Swarthout, Injured at Plant

Herbert J. Swarthout Jr., 52, of 60 Brewster Street, who was injured Friday afternoon reportedly conducting a test at Electrol Inc., 85 Grand Street, was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital.

Dr. Joseph Jacobson, his physician, said Swarthout suffered severe internal injuries.

John Strittar, personnel manager at the hydraulics manufacturing firm, said plant officials were conducting an investigation of the accident, but could give no other details other than "Mr. Swarthout suffered stomach injuries in an accident here Friday afternoon."

His mother, Mrs. Herbert J. Swarthout Sr., told The Freeman that her son, employed in the experimental room at the plant, "was working on an airplane part, testing rings and the test blew up and punctured his stomach.

Dr. Jacobson described his condition as "fair" at noon today.

Swarthout's wife, Regina, is a third grade teacher at School No. 6.

They are the parents of two children, Herbert Jr., a third grade student at St. Mary's School, and Jean Marie, a junior at Kingston High School.

Sees Talk Indicating New Delay

Demands Are Made For Drastic Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), the House majority leader, said today it is President Eisenhower's responsibility as commander-in-chief to tell Congress how he thinks the Pentagon should be reorganized.

The Democratic leader, whose party controls both houses of Congress, in effect served notice that the legislators would be reluctant to put through a major reorganization without a plan from the President whose constitutional duties include command of the armed forces.

Must Work Out Plan

Eisenhower said in his State of the Union message on Jan. 9 that he would send Congress recommendations for reorganization of the military setup "to achieve real unity." But last Wednesday he told newsmen a plan must be worked out after "many conferences" in which the views of Congress and the services would be sought. He said his own personal convictions could not be the final answer.

Meanwhile, demands have been aired on capitol hill for a drastic military reshuffling to end any harmful inter-service rivalry. Some congressmen have said a "knocking of heads" at the Pentagon without a change in the law, would do the job.

McCormack, a top member of the House Government Operations Committee which handles reorganization plans, said he is "keeping my mind open" on the subject. But he said Eisenhower's latest remarks indicate a delay before any plan comes from the Chief Executive.

"I want to know what he has in mind," McCormack said in an interview. "He's the commander in chief. He has the responsibility of letting the Congress know his views. Certainly his views would be worthy of and should receive consideration."

No Twining Criticism

Arguments over military roles and better-than-usual news about missiles highlighted the defense story yesterday as House and Senate committees recessed their inquiries over the weekend. There were these devlopmnts:

Police Break Up Plot Of Nazi-Like Society

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans of a youth gang for a $40,000 bank robbery to get funds for setting up a Nazi-like superman society have been broken up because two members disclosed the plot.

Police said the leader, 21-year-old George Leggett, had imbued his group of 10 youths with "Nordic supremacy" and the racial ideas of Adolf Hitler. Leggett called himself "George Von Licter" and said he was born in Germany. Authorities said he was born in The Bronx.

The gang was broken up yesterday with the arrest of Leggett and four teen-agers.

Early today four more youths, alleged members of the gang, were booked—three on burglary charges and one 15-year-old on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

In the homes of the plotters police found two sawed-off shotguns, three .22 caliber rifles and an arsenal of knives and daggers.

The two youths who told their elders of the bank plot, which led to the arrests, were not charged.

Police gave this account:

Leggett formed the gang about two months ago. Members took an oath to "unite and purify all the nordic peoples," and assertedly planned the bank holdup to provide money for an Upstate camp to promote "the moral strength, spiritual greatness and physical perfection which make up the true nordic." The gang had letterhead stationery and membership cards. They also had rubber stamps with phrases such as "for the cause" and "nordics over all."

Leggett is unemployed. The other members attended Forest Hills High School.

Last Tuesday, Leggett called a meeting at his home and outlined his plan to rob the Kew Gardens, Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank It was felt that more guns would be needed, so Tuesday night a 15-year-old gang member stole $90 from his parents and turned it over to Leggett.

Wednesday night, at another meeting, Leggett set the robbery attempt for yesterday. Detailed plans of the bank were produced. All that was needed were two getaway cars.

The cars were to be stolen on Thursday. That was when two of the boys said robbing a bank was going too far. For balking, the youths were threatened and forced to go along as the other gang members searched for cars they could steal.

The two rebels escaped on a crowded street and returned home to blurt out the tale. The parents of one and the aunt of another called police. Then came the gang roundup.

After his arrest Leggett tried to laugh the whole thing off and told newsmen: "I would have chickened out myself before I got to the bank."

Two Get $147,300 Award; Faulty Salk Vaccine Used

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A jury which said it had no choice under the judge's instructions awarded $147,300 for two children crippled by polio after they received injections of allegedly faulty Salk vaccine in 1955.

The judgment was against Cutter Laboratories, which had produced the vaccine.

It may set a precedent in settling 31 more suits against Cutter and many others against four other drug firms.

Cutter president, Dr. Robert K. Cutter, said he will appeal. The jurors said they did not believe Cutter was negligent in preparation of its vaccine, but under the judge's interpretation of the law it must find for the children.

The plaintiffs' attorney, Melvin Belli, hailed the decision as "the first which makes a manufacturer stand behind his product in the good old American manner."

"Lloyds of London, which insured Cutter for five million dollars that we know of, was the real defendant in this case," Belli said.

The eight women and four men—by an 11-1 vote—awarded the parents of Anne Elizabeth Gottsdanker, 8, now of Providence, R. I., $131,500 and the parents of James Randall, 4, of Monrovia, Calif., $15,800. They had sued jointly for $365,000.

The jury issued a statement with its decision which said the majority felt that Cutter Laboratories was not negligent "either directly or by inference."

The statement continued "with regard to the law of warranty, we feel that we have no alternative but to conclude that Cutter marketed vaccine which caused the plaintiffs to come down with poliomyelitis."

During the trial, Dr. Walter Ward, Cutter medical director, testified that Cutter's vaccine had passed all safety tests in force before April 12, 1955—the day the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Salk polio vaccine was safe and effective.

He said later that more thorough tests showed the vaccine contained live virus capable of causing polio.

Reuter Probers May Focus On Utica Crime, Report

OWEGO (AP)—Buffalo club owner Roy R. Carlisi is scheduled to lead the parade Tuesday when a Tioga County grand jury begins questioning those who attended a gangland convention in Apalachin last November.

The jury yesterday heard the final police testimony in its probe of the hoodlum meeting. Twenty-eight of the 60 men who attended have been subpoenaed to appear before the jury. Tuesday is to be the first day they testify.

Carlisi invoked the Fifth Amendment 77 times to questions posed by the Legislature's Watchdog Committee during its probe of the Apalachin convention.

The underworld figured in these other developments yesterday:

1. Gov. Harriman's acting investigation commissioner, Arthur L. Reuter, would not confirm nor deny a report that he planned to probe crime conditions in Utica, home of three Apalachin conferees.

2. A high official of the Democratic state administration said he had inquired into the 1956 traffic arrest of hoodlum Carmine Galente.

3. Two top state police officials proposed creation of an intelligence unit in the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

4. Justice Daniel McAvoy of State Supreme Court in Binghamton ruled he was powerless to block a license revocation action brought by the State Liquor Authority against Joseph Barbara Sr., the Apalachin host, or to suppress evidence gleaned from books seized from Barbara's business.

The report of the Utica investigation was published by the Endicott Bulletin.

In the Galente matter, Leonard L. Schieffelin, deputy state director of veterans affairs and a past state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told newsmen in Albany that he had asked junior

Avers Church Is Obligated To Speak on Moral Issues

ALBANY — Declaring "the Church has an obligation to speak and act when political issues involve moral and human values," the New York State Council of Churches today spoke out on 10 issues slated for attention during this session of the State Legislature.

The council's position on such subjects as migrant labor, discrimination, family justice, beverage alcohol and narcotics control, gambling, and penal procedures, was announced in its annual "Statement of Legislative Principles," released today by its interdenominational and nonpartisan legislative commission.

The Rev. Theodore Bundy of Albany, commission chairman, and the Rev. Theodore L. Conklin, associate general secretary of the State Council, announced the "principles" as "the considered position of the council and its constituent bodies."

The State Council of Churches represents 16 Protestant denominations and more than two million Protestant church members.

Reaffirming its belief that "gambling is a moral and social evil," the council noted "the recent vote on the amendment to Article I, Section 9 of the State Constitution (McGahan- Savarese 'bingo' amendment) makes it apparent that a large portion of our electorate is opposed to the wide legalization of petty gambling." The council will continue to oppose all extensions of legalized gambling, such as parimutuel and off-track betting, bookmaking, and various types of lotteries for municipal or state support.

The State Council of Churches conducted a vigorous "vote no" campaign on the bingo amendment, and will continue its opposition during the local-option elections this fall.

In addition to gambling, the council spoke on nine other "social problems presenting moral issues so important that we cannot ignore them without failing our duty as churchmen." These, and the positions taken, include:

Beverage Alcohol and Narcotics: Continued support of legislation to raise the minimum age for purchase of intoxicants from 18 to 21 years; increased appropriations for the study and treatment of alcoholism; and "a review of the whole approach to narcotic addiction with a view to new legislation which will represent the best thinking of all medical, law enforcement, and religious leaders."

Discrimination: Support extending the jurisdiction of the State Commission Against Discrimination and giving it power to initiate investigations.

Family Justice: Supports measures designed to establish procedures for conciliation of marital disputes, believing this can best be done by placing responsibility for matters concerning marriage, adoption, family conflict and child welfare in a single court; review of laws concerning adoption procedures to the end that every child may have the warmth of family life as early as possible.

Mass Communication: Supports legislation to arrive at a clear understanding of the problem involved in upholding the decency of mass communications, realizing that "legislation aimed at decency can do more harm than good if it violates basic civil rights and if it inhibits the free flow of bona fide ideas, however unpopular they may be with our own or other groups."

Migrant Labor: Supports legislation calling for increased educational programs for migrant children; closer regulation of labor contractors; better living and health services for migrant workers; expansion of the summer school programs for migrant children instituted in 1956 under the New York State Department of Education.

Penal Procedures: Supports legislation increasing rehabilitation services; establishment of a public defender system; recommendations that a "moratorium on the imposition of the death penalty be declared by law for a period of at least five years and that a joint legislative committee be established to study and make recommendations on this issue during this period."

Public Education: Supports increased educational services on all levels with "appropriate state aid"; opposes any use of public tax money designated for education purpose "either directly or indirectly for service to, or support of, other than public schools."

Social Welfare: Supports legislation for slum clearance; middle income housing; safeguards on child labor practices; and legislation "to meet the special needs and to protect the rights and personal dignity of older people."

Sunday Laws: Supports Sunday laws necessary to remove economic pressures interfering with religious worship, and exemption from Sunday closing for those who, for religious reasons, regularly close their places of business on a day other than Sunday and observe that as a holy day.

The council pointed out that members of its legislative commission are elected "to serve as an educational and liaison agent for church people to keep them informed of the status of legislation, and to confer with legislators to inform them of the attitude of the Protestant constituency in this state."

Sunday, the Gideons will meet at Hotel Kingston and dedicate 94 Bibles which will be placed in the rooms of that building. Bibles have also been placed in other hotels in Kingston and surrounding areas as well as many of the motels.

To Hold Banquet

Gideons from all over the state (as far west as Buffalo and south as Long Island) will meet for the winter session Saturday which will culminate in a banquet at St. James Methodist Church at 6:30 p. m.

These same men will occupy the pulpits of Kingston, Stone Ridge, Ashokan and other communities in this vicinity and tell of the work which is being done to distribute the Holy Scriptures. Pastors have opened over 40 of their churches to this presentation, and will give their membership the opportunity of helping to support this enterprise.

A cordial invitation is given to the public to attend the church of their choice and listen to these men of God as they outline the work already accomplished by Gideons as well as the task that lies ahead.

Started in 1898

The Gideons was started when two Christian men met in a hotel in Wisconsin in 1898 and saw the need for an organization to develop fellowship between Christian business men as they traveled throughout the nation.

In 1900 the first convention was held and there were 600 registered delegates. Today there are more than 17,000 members in the United States, Canada and foreign countries of Christian laymen.

The first Bibles were placed in a hotel at Iron Mountain, Montana in 1906 and since that time almost 38 million copies of the Holy Scripture have been distributed.

When World War 2 began, the Army and Navy authorities requested the Gideons to help in placing a copy of the New Testament in the hands of service men and women. Up to the present almost 15 million copies have been distributed. When the men of Ulster County leave from the draft board each month, a member of the local Gideons is present to distribute the New Testament.

Bibles To Children

Another project of the Gideons is the placing of New Testaments in the hands of school children from the fifth grade on through high school. Over 30 million have been given out to the youth of our land.

Gideons also distribute the Scriptures in motels, hospitals, penal institutions and among nurses in hospitals.

The year 1958 marks the 50th anniversary of the placing of the first Bibles in the United States. At the annual international convention at Minneapolis in July 1957 the membership was challenged with the task of placing a

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Elma Hammond Sahlbeck, Shokan, N. Y. who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 18, 1957.

How we miss you Mother dear,
Every day still more and more.
But God grant someday we'll meet you
On that blissful, heavenly shore.
When the evening's shadows are falling
And we are sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing—
If you only could come home.

Pipe Costs Seen As Delay in 28 Construction Job

Cost of taking up and replacing some hundreds of feet of water pipe in the Village of Pine Hill is reportedly holding up a $7,000,000 highway construction job on Route 28 between Highmount and Boiceville.

The Pine Hill Water Company must pay the costs of digging up the pipes and replacing them in another trench. Such a program would cost between $17,000 and $22,000.

However, if the water works were owned by the village the state would pay for the job of moving the pipes,

Would Sell Interests

The Pine Hill Water Company is seeking to sell its interests to the village for $51,500, it is reported.

Mayor Charles Griffin of Pine Hill told The Freeman this morning however, that he wasn't going to ask the village to pay $51,500 "to buy that piece of junk." He said "it's not worth half that much."

He said the pipe job could probably be done for as little as $10,000.

The mayor charged that the water company was "trying to saw this thing off on the taxpayers,"—a case he said of "dog eat dog."

2 Sections Involved

Griffin said there were only two sections of pipe involved—one of which extends for about a block and a half, the other about three blocks.

The company was offered for sale in 1956 but parties to the negotiations were unable to reach an agreement.

Robert C. Schaedle, treasurer of the company has recommended that the village and the company each appoint a qualified utility company appraiser—those two appointing a third—to fix the value of the property of the Pine Hill Water Company.

Schaedle said the company would be willing to be bound by the estimate which would then be submitted to the State Public Service Commission for approval.

Paltz-Gardiner Historian Offers Year End Report

The annual historian's report for 1957 for the Towns of New Paltz and Gardiner was released for publication this week by Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, town and village historian.

"Once again our town of New Paltz and Gardiner have shown a definite gain in their historic interest for the traveler. A number of people have come to make permanent homes in the area. Perhaps it is fortunate that the growth of population has been gradual, thus giving time for planning. Space in our schools continues to be a problem that must be faced. Our churches need to be increased in size, especially Sunday school facilities. As the communities grow, public utilities become inadequate and must be replaced or in some cases have not existed at all. Although we make some errors in this period of change, our communities remain intrinsically the same and visitors state that we should be very proud of our old community.

Decline in Visitors

"During the past year there was a decline in the number of visitors during the autumn season. August and September continued to be busy months for our local museums. Space time to prepare exhibits and lack of trained personnel makes it impossible for us to do the job that should be done for the public.

"There has been a large increase in numbers of newspaper and magazine articles written about this area. Good publicity is needed and places far less interesting to the public have become famous through that medium.

"The new brochure put out by the Town Board last May has proved to be invaluable for publicity purposes. They have been sent by the hundreds all over the United States and even to foreign countries. The brochure depicts some of our outstanding historical spots churches, banks and gives a brief history of the background of the community of New Paltz. It has proven very useful for travelers, teachers and school children in various parts of the country who are doing projects dealing with this area.

1959 Celebration

"The coming Hudson-Champlain celebration in 1959 has occupied some time in planning an activity that can be done by our towns. It is believed now that the best way this can be done is to run a series of events which will include the Towns of Marlborough, Lloyd, Shawangunk, Gardiner and finally, New Paltz with its Stone House Day. The various historians feel that it might be better to have the local celebration as a unit of activities rather than one-day affairs that would be spread out throughout the summer. People who come to the area could spend three or four days taking in the activities planned by the towns.

"During the past year many new items have been added to the museums. Unfortunately some items are being destroyed or lost as old homes are being sold and cleared of what is presumed by some to be worthless material. It is hoped that any person finding assessment books, family Bibles, old papers, documents will be kind enough to allow the Town Historian to check them before they are thrown away. It is through such records that we are able to collect data on people who lived here many years ago and to give a better picture of history in its relation to our community. Even newspaper clippings are useful, especially if they are dated.

"During the past fall, vandalism destroyed a number of the old tombstones in the DuBois Cemetery located near the home of the Deckers at Libertyville. Some person or persons went into the cemetery and deliberately broke the stones, literally pulverizing some of them. It is a pity as Mr. Decker has tried very hard to keep the old cemetery in condition. The supervisors of our towns have been trying to clear up the old cemeteries according to the laws governing abandoned burial grounds in the State of New York.

Cemetery Is Fair

"The Old Huguenot Cemetery on Huguenot Street, New Paltz is in fair condition. Thirty-three bronze plaques have been placed on the stones. These plaques have been inscribed with the data taken from the stone. It is hoped that all the stones can be taken care of in like manner in the near future.

"The State Teachers College, New Paltz has a student enrollment of 1,200, with a general faculty of 139 members. The college faculty numbers 98. During this year the new dormitories, which will house 300 students, should be completed. The number of courses and graduate student enrollment is increasing steadily. In-service teachers come from some distance to take courses which are being given evenings at the college. The State Teachers College, New Paltz is ever widening its sphere of service to the surrounding communities. Instructors go out from the college to Long Island, Kingston, Middletown and various places to meet the needs of teachers who cannot travel to New Paltz.

"During the year another of our old houses, the Abraham Hasbrouck House, was purchased through the efforts of the Reformed Dutch Church, Jamison Foundation and the members of the Hasbrouck family. The house will be preserved in its original style. Over 600 heads of families of the Hasbrouck group have been heard from in the United States and Canada. It is most interesting to note the way in which so many of these people respond to the needs of this community which was the birthplace of their ancestors. Many of them have never been to New Paltz and some have long ago lost any recollection of having been connected with this area. Their interest speaks well for the future of our old houses.

Check Deyo Line

"The Deyo (Deyoe) geneology has been in process for some time as there was a definite need to place the many members of that family who come to visit New Paltz. Their letters and family data comes in each day from all parts of the country. It has been a source of amazement to find how large a number of Deyos there are in the United States. Many early records have been found as a result of this search.

"The Colonel Josiah Hasbrouck House, located on Route 32, New Paltz-Modena Road is now completely furnished and all rooms except those in use by the Conklin family, are open and available to the public. The house has been greatly appreciated by visitors, especially its strict adherence to having the furnishings in period. The furnishings were all a part of the house when it served needs of the family in residence and its hospitality was well known. It is practically the only house of its period that can boast of being furnished with the original furniture, linens, china, silver and other items, in New York State that is open to the public. Numerous items dealing with the early history of our country are now housed there. It is a pity the excellent library, mainly devoted to books on history and literature, cannot be used during the winter months. The genealogical library has expanded to a point where it can compare favorably with any in Ulster County.

Stone House Day

"Stone House Day has now passed its seventh year and its popularity with the public does not seem to diminish. Held on the first Saturday of August each year, the event has become almost a tradition. The ideal setting, simplicity and good taste in presentation must be kept as those are the main factors our guests find agreeable. Naturally restorations appeal to many people as they appear more spectacular. Here we have the real thing and should be kept as near the original plan as possible. This year, 1958, will find the Reformed Church celebrating its 275th Anniversary. The new Sunday school will be erected and Stone House Day will have as its main feature, aspects of the founding of the French Church, 1683.

"We are fortunate to have in our town a Chamber of Commerce that looks toward the future and is making worthwhile contributions toward community life. Our park has shown excellent improvement during the past year and the Elting Memorial Library is doing an excellent piece of work in serving the needs of the public.

"The Town Historian takes this opportunity to remind all those who lack a birth certificate or some means by which they can establish their age, that the records are available to them. Records include some Bible records, church records of Baptism and other documents. The census records will in many cases save people a lot of time. At Kingston, the records are kept, beginning in 1850 of all inhabitants of the county. The record gives the age of the individual at the time the census was taken.

Cite Covered Bridge

Efforts in favor of preserving the only covered bridge in our area have resulted in the matter being turned over to the Legislature. It is hoped that such efforts will not be in vain.

The report of the town and village historian could not possibly contain the many additions to the improvement of our communities during the past year, but in a general way it is written to show where the main contributions have been made and to thank the many people who have had a part in accomplishing them. We have a great deal to do and perhaps another year will see us much further along the road to our goal."

12 Inch Snow Hits Buffalo

BUFFALO (AP)—Buffalo's heaviest snowfall of the season covered the city with a white blanket a foot deep today. Suburbs to the south, as usual got the worst of the storm with snowfalls up to 18 inches.

Traffic in the city was slowed, but all streets were passable as hundreds of public works employes attacked the light, fluffy snow.

More on Way

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicted another three to five inches would fall through Western New York today before the storm fades off to flurries tonight.

The official report at Buffalo Airport was 11 inches on the ground, all but an inch of it since yesterday. But it was 12 inches deep downtown, up to 14 in suburbs to the north and east and 18 inches in central and southern Erie County.

Blowing, swirling snow off Lake Erie led state police to ask motorists to keep off Routes 5 and 20 southwest of Buffalo except in emergencies. The highways were open but extremely dangerous.

Thruway speed was cut to 35 miles an hour from Verona to the Pennsylvania line.

Whips off Lakes

The storm whipped in off Lakes Erie and Ontario last night, hitting Upstate areas that had escaped the east coast storm earlier in the week.

Niagara County to the north of Buffalo got up to eight inches of snow, and an average of one foot was heaped across Cattaraugus County to the south.

Faces Fourth Murder

HAMILTON, Scotland (AP)—With a crowd of angry women milling outside, a Scottish woodcutter already accused of three murders was hustled into sheriff's court today and charged with a fourth.

Peter Thomas Anthony Manuel, a handsome, stocky man born in New York City 31 years ago, entered no plea to the new charge or murdering 17-year-old Isabelle Cooke, whose body was found in a shallow grave near here Thursday after a 19-day search. He also has entered no plea to the other charge of murdering a family of three on New Year's Day.

Stratton Charge On Police Called Without Any Basis

SCHENECTADY (AP) — The city manager says he finds no basis for a charge by Mayor Samuel Stratton that an alliance exists between police department officials and the underworld.

The manager, Arthur Blessing, also said yesterday that Police Chief William F. Brandt and Patrolman Guy Barbieri had acted 'legally and within the scope of common police procedure" in handling the traffic case of ex-convict Vido Muscanelli.

However, Blessing ordered that in the future police make no attempts to withdraw or reduce charges except in open court.

The Democratic mayor had complained about the Muscanelli case and had demanded that Brandt, a Republican, resign or be fired.

Blessing held public hearings on the mayor's charges.

Barbieri testified at the hearing that the chief had asked him to withdraw a speeding charge against Muscanelli, who had been convicted of gambling and second degree rape. Brandt denied this but confirmed that he told the patrolman "whatever you do with this case is all right with me."

Blessing said this statement indicated "tacit approval" of a move to withdraw the speeding charge and was "tantamount to an order" from the chief.

Muscanelli later pleaded guilty to charges of speeding and passing a red light. He was fined $105 and his driver's license was revoked because it was a third speeding offense.

Stratton called Blessing's statement "incredible" and "a strange new kind of political whitewash."

The mayor said that since Blessing had found that the chief did order the ticket fixed and Brandt denied it under oath "doesn't this make the chief guilty of perjury?"

And, Stratton continued, if there was nothing wrong with the police procedure "why are any changes needed?"

Scout Troop 4 Invited to Tour Albany Tuesday

Members of Boy Scout Troop 4 of Fair Street Reformed Church, sponsors of the petitions to save the Perrine Bridge, received an invitation from both legislators representing Ulster County, to tour Albany on Tuesday.

Petitions with nearly 5,000 names were delivered to Governor Harriman by the troop January 3.

The 10 Boy Scouts and two adult Scouters received an invitation from State Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson to visit the Legislature in session.

The tour will also include a visit to Albany Police Headquarters.

Members of the troop will have the opportunity to speak to some of the legislators regarding their petition to save the Perrine Bridge, near Rifton. They are not expected to see Governor Harriman at this time.

Crazy Otto's Is To Become Motel

Nonagricultural Employment Less, Earning Higher

Nonagricultural employment in the middle Atlantic region dropped in mid-November from mid-October levels. Robert R. Behlow, regional director of U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, pointed out that earnings of factory production workers moved upward and in most of the region's metropolitan areas they were at record levels.

In releasing the results of the bureau's monthly survey of employment, payrolls and hours, Behlow said that non-agricultural employment usually moves upward in November. A combination of a continued decline in manufacturing employment, a greater than seasonal decline in contract construction and a smaller than seasonal increase in wholesale and retail trade employment were the major factors in the over the month drop of 40,600 workers. Nonagricultural employment was 11,734,900 in mid-November.

In all three states and in 20 of the region's 24 major metropolitan areas, average weekly earnings rose between October and November. In 10 of the metropolitan areas average weekly earnings were at record levels. New Jersey had the largest increase $1.24, which raised weekly earnings in the state to $85.89. New York rose 71 cents to $82.40 and Pennsylvania went up 35 cents to $82.64. Average hourly earnings of $2.17 in New Jersey, $2.11 in New York and $2.13 in Pennsylvania are all record figures. Also, 17 of the metropolitan areas reported record hourly earnings.

officials of his agency to check into the ex-convict's arrest.

Schieffelin said a man stopped in his office and asked him to find out why Galente was arrested. The state official said Galente's name was not known to him and he assumed Galente to be a veteran. He declined to identify the man who asked for the inquiry.

Galente was convicted of traffic violations in October 1956 after attending what state police said was a gangland meeting on a smaller scale than the Apalachin one.

Four state assemblymen—three Republicans and a Democrat—previously had said they made inquiries into the arrest but dropped them when they learned of Galente's criminal record.

In New York City, State Police Supt. Francis S. McGarvey and Chief Inspector Martin F. Dillon advocated the intelligence unit plan at a meeting of five district attorneys appointed by Harriman to study the state's crime situation.

Soviet Russia has grown more cordial.

Uruguay Apparent Base

Uruguay is the apparent base for Russia's activities in Latin America. The embassy staff in Montevideo is the Soviet Union's largest in the hemisphere. Soviet publications flood the newstands of Montevideo.

Uruguay's principal export is wool. And the country was badly hit when the United States began to subsidize domestic producers and thus caused a drop in wool exports to the United States to a fraction of their former total.

Last year Uruguay sold some 3 million dollars worth of meat, wool and leather goods to Russia but there was less trade than in 1956.

debtedness of approximately $19 million.

It is reported that the Authority would like to submit bills which would retire the present indebtedness and authorize issuance of bonds sufficient to build the new bridge.

The bills are still in the discussion stage. It was explained that a generous debt ceiling would prove more attractive to potential bond investors.

It is reported unofficially that some legislators favor a ceiling of approximately $70 million.

May Go to Hotelmen

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — The handing of union demands to hotelmen furnished a possible basis today for threshing out a general strike that has dried up Nassau's tourist trade.

The Bahamas Federation of Labor included requests for a wage scale and a 48-hour week among points it presented yesterday for the consideration of the hotel owners. Twelve major resort hotels closed down on Monday in the spreading strike. There was no immediate reaction from the hotel owners, some of whom are off-island.

The federation made its overture as skylarking strikers rode the Bahamas capital's streets in a horn-tooting motorcade which seemed to be more festive than militant.

British troops, flown here from Jamaica to preserve order, kept an eye on events but reported no serious disorders.

The strike originated Sunday among unionized taxi drivers who dispute the right of four companies to carry passengers to and from Nassau International Airport.

A day after the cabbies halted service, hotel kitchen, dining room and chamber workers walked out in sympathy and they were joined by street cleaners, stevedores and utility workers.

Mansfield Says Dulles Flexibility to Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today Secretary of State Dulles has increased his stature in Congress by what Mansfield called his "new demonstration of flexibility" on the question of negotiations with Russia.

Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader and a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Dulles "may have smoothed the way" for some of his legislative programs due to come up soon.

The Montana Democrat told an interviewer he was pleased that Dulles expects to consult here next month with the U. S. ambassador to Moscow on prospects of new talks with Russia.

The State Department said yesterday that Ambassador Llewelyn Thompson will leave Moscow about Jan. 23 to return home for general consultation. Although Dulles will be leaving about the same time for Ankara, Turkey, to attend a meeting of the Baghdad Pact council, the secretary is due back in Washington about Feb. 1. He will meet with Thompson shortly afterward.

McCormick Bids

chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and former Air Force chief of staff, told the Senate preparedness subcommittee in effect that he would turn in his uniform rather than criticize Eisenhower's defense budget.

Twining said in previous closed-door testimony made public yesterday that the armed services never get all the money they ask for. "A commander makes a decision and if everybody starts bucking it, it is just no good, and you have no military," he said.

Hint Detection Centers

2. Testimony released by the House Armed Services Committee, spoke of plans to start building three "detection centers" outside the United States. Secretary of the Air Force James Douglas said they are intended to detect oncoming ballistic missiles.

The Defense Department declined to discuss details of the missile detection program, but it was learned the three stations would be built in the Arctic. They would use 3,000-mile range radar to spot any Russian missiles within minutes of launching from Europe or Asia.

Construction cost of these stations was set at 189 million dollars, with a possible total cost of more than 250 millions after radar equipment is included.

Such a detection system would give the United States perhaps 15 minutes warning time—not enough for evacuation of cities but enough time to get U. S. H-bombers on their way to Soviet targets.

In other testimony before the Senate group, President J. H. Kindelberger of North American Aviation Inc. said his company is working on a much larger rocket engine suitable for manned satellite stations and moon landings.

Another industrialist, President William M. Allen of Boeing Aircraft, told the senators he views the "situation we are in . . . as very critical." Allen, whose firm makes long range B52 bombers, said he favors boosting taxes if that is necessary to pay for increased defense spending.

Phillies Rookie, Ed Bouchee, Is Held on Charge

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Major league rookie standout Ed Bouchee, 24, charged yesterday with indecent exposure involving a 6-year-old girl, was pictured by officers as being relieved at his arrest.

Police Lt. George Berg said the Philadelphia Phillies first baseman said after his arrest:

"I knew I'd get caught. I'm glad I got caught now."

Bouchee is the father of a three-year-old boy and his wife is expecting another child. He was released after posting $2,500 bond and left the county court house here by a back exit in order to avoid reporters and photographers.

Prosecutor John Lally said that Bouchee had admitted enticing a girl into his car, showing her indecent pictures and exposing himself.

Lt. Berg said Bouchee had admitted being involved in four other cases under investigation by the police. These involved girls 10, 11, 14 and 18 years of age.

He was charged only in the case of the six-year-old.

Indecent exposure involving children is a felony in Washington, and conviction could bring a maximum term of not more than 20 years in the state penitentiary.

Officials of the Philadelphia Phillies declined comment on Bouchee's arrest.

Bouchee had a great rookie year, hitting .293, batting in 79 runs and hitting 17 home runs.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 18, 1958

THE NEW BUDGET

Few Americans would have dreamed that in 1958, nearly 13 years after World War II, a U.S. government would be proposing a peacetime budget.

In 1945 a 100-billion-dollar budget seemed a fantastic but necessary circumstance of life. It provided the financial muscle that supported a 12-million-man armed force, the output of thousands upon thousands of tanks and guns and a production rate of almost 100,000 planes a year, and billions in materials for our allies.

A 74-billion-dollar budget in peacetime obviously cannot be explained by surveying the normal demands of peace, even in a vastly inflated economy such as ours.

The truth, known to all of us for some years but hitting us with fuller force at this turn in history, is that we are fighting a war without war.

We are engaged in an unrelenting struggle with the Soviet Union, an all-encompassing test of power which sweeps to all corners of the earth and of life, and now threatens to move beyond the globe to outer space.

The budget President Eisenhower presents for the year starting July 1 is probably the boldest recognition yet offered of the tremendous scope of this conflict. Of its total suggested outlay, 64 per cent is taken up by major national security costs, including foreign aid.

That recognition has come because of Russia's astonishing leap into the satellite-missile lead. The budget reflects Mr. Eisenhower's determination—and the nation's—to get back on top and thus safeguard freedom for ourselves and all others who prize it.

The requested 2.5 billion-dollar increase in defense and closely related outlays will appear insufficient to some, and already forecasts abound that Congress is more likely to add further funds than to pare down.

In the crucial missile field, the President proposes to spend 5.3 billion dollars, four and a half times the 1955 outlay. Military research and development spending, an area in which America has been found wanting, is hiked 700 million dollars to 2.2 billion.

There is more for nuclear work, and for ships, especially missile-firing submarines.

One big feature is the President's bid for a 500-million-dollar contingency fund, and authority to shift some two billion of the 40 billion defense fund as he sees fit, to capitalize on any scientific breakthroughs in missiles, satellites or related fields.

Even with such blanket requests, he may not have much trouble. The big question Congress will ask on defense is: "Is it enough?"

On top of all this, Mr. Eisenhower wants money for scientific education and foreign aid. As with defense, Congress probably will be generous-handed on science schooling. But it will surely cast its customary dubious eye on suggested increases in foreign spending.

Only the easiest optimists think the administration will really show the 500-million-dollar surplus it predicts for the coming year.

But whether the prospect is surplus or deficit, the lawmakers are expected to vote the big money. They know we need a big launching platform if we are to catapult our missiles and satellites into the long lead that will be decisive for free men.

France is reported exhausting its wealth to a point threatening national bankruptcy. It is a touching story. It may even mean another touch for Uncle Sam.

While return of long underwear to general use would not be a new experience for old-timers, virtually all the younger generation would have to start from scratch.

One trend in international thought is that it would be better to talk with Russia than to let Russia do all the talking.

NEW JERSEY POLITICS

The State of New Jersey is different from other states in that a part of its population works in New York, another part in Philadelphia. Its industrial cities such as Newark, Passaic, Paterson, and there are many more, are constantly growing and its bedroom towns to which New Yorkers move, are increasing in number and population.

Politically, the state used to be Republican but in recent years, it has become Democratic. In fact, the most powerful so-called big city boss developed anywhere in this country, Frank Hague, was a Jersey City Democratic satrap. It is a state with large populations of Poles, Hungarians, White Russians and other former Europeans.

Like the Republican Party in New York State, the Republicans in New Jersey have become torn by internecine strife between Moderns, as represented by Senator Clifford Case, and the pre-1952 Republicans who have been voting Democratic locally, thus helping Governor Meyner in the last election to enjoy a run-away victory. The pre-1952 Republicans, in New Jersey, believe, as their counterparts in New York believe, that if they have to vote a radical, they would prefer him to be in the Democratic Party.

New Jersey's senior U. S. Senator H. Alexander Smith's term is up and he has wanted to be re-elected. Although he is 77 years old, by no stretch of the imagination can he be regarded as aged, since Senator Green of Rhode Island is 90 and can cha-cha for long and arduous hours. Maybe, Green possesses such gifts because he is a bachelor. At any rate, Smith, who has regularly served the Eisenhower Administration faithfully, was declared to be too aged in favor of Bernard Shanley who was the President's secretary and resigned that position to run for Smith's.

Shanley either miscalculated his strength or the value of the President's name but his candidacy has not built the momentum that had been expected. Furthermore, the Republican leadership of the state had anticipated that by joint action of the two United States Senators, Smith and Case, and the state chairman, Samuel L. Bodine, if Shanley could not be put over, they would be able to call off all sorts of other candidates and instead nominate Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, Jr., who is an Eisenhower Republican and comes of an old and distinguished New Jersey family.

Such a move, however, is not likely to succeed as there is such strong grass-roots opposition to the Republican leadership in New Jersey that several unexpected persons are presenting themselves as candidates for the nomination of United States Senator in Smith's place. Among the most active of these is Robert Morris, who is resigning his position as counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Morris has held judicial office in New York State, but comes of a New Jersey family with deep roots in that state. He is actively campaigning as a conservative Republican with a long history of anti-Communist activity as counsel for Congressional committees. Morris is making an energetic fight for the nomination, going directly to those who are likely to vote in the primaries and rekindling Republican aspirations.

This contest is interesting because it is developing into a clear-cut fight between the Modern Republicans and the pre-1952 Republicans on a basis of principle and strategy. Perhaps the greatest strategic weakness of the Republican Party both in New York and New Jersey is that the acknowledged leaders have lost contact with the party's supporters who have in a large measure been drifting away during the past five years.

During the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, these Republicans had targets which they could fight and against which they held local lines. Since Eisenhower became President, their targets have been removed and all they can do is to grumble. Many stay away from the polls; many vote for local Democrats.

This analysis represents Republicans who want nothing for themselves. They ask of their party a candidate for whom they can conscientiously vote. They did not feel that Senator Clifford Case was such a candidate, but they had no organized means to defeat him. Since his election, Senator Clifford Case has had practically no influence in New Jersey. It is possible that the conservative element in the Republican Party will take over in the 1958 election, but it is not at all certain that any Republican can be elected.

Continuing Cough Can Lead To Serious Bronchiectasis

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

There is no doubt whatever that the condition known as bronchiectasis is both a common and a serious medical problem.

Mrs. J. W. writes that her son has this trouble as a result of asthma. The doctor, she says, states that the condition is serious but is only in the early stage.

This is encouraging, but, of course, the asthma (which presumably caused the bronchiectasis) must be treated by every means available.

Bronchiectasis is a condition in which the small pockets in the lungs which are normally filled with air when a person breathes are broken down, enlarged and filled with mucus fluid or semi-solid material. It is commonly the result of a long-continued cough left over from bronchial pneumonia, lung abscess, or similar infections in the breathing system. Asthma, too, is an important cause.

THE SYMPTOMS OF bronchiectasis are generally like those of any other irritation of the lungs. Chronic cough, usually with the bringing up of a fairly heavy mucus sputum, sometimes having a foul odor, is common.

The diagnosis depends on special examinations, including X-rays. Also, the use of a remarkable instrument called a bronchoscope is frequently helpful.

Once bronchiectasis has been diagnosed treatment should not be long delayed. Of course, the first step is to see if the condition which produced the bronchiectasis is still active and to use whatever means are possible to attack the underlying cause. The earlier this is done the better.

The medical treatment of established bronchiectasis has not been highly successful until recently. However, penicillin or its antibiotic relatives, if given early enough, seems to be helpful.

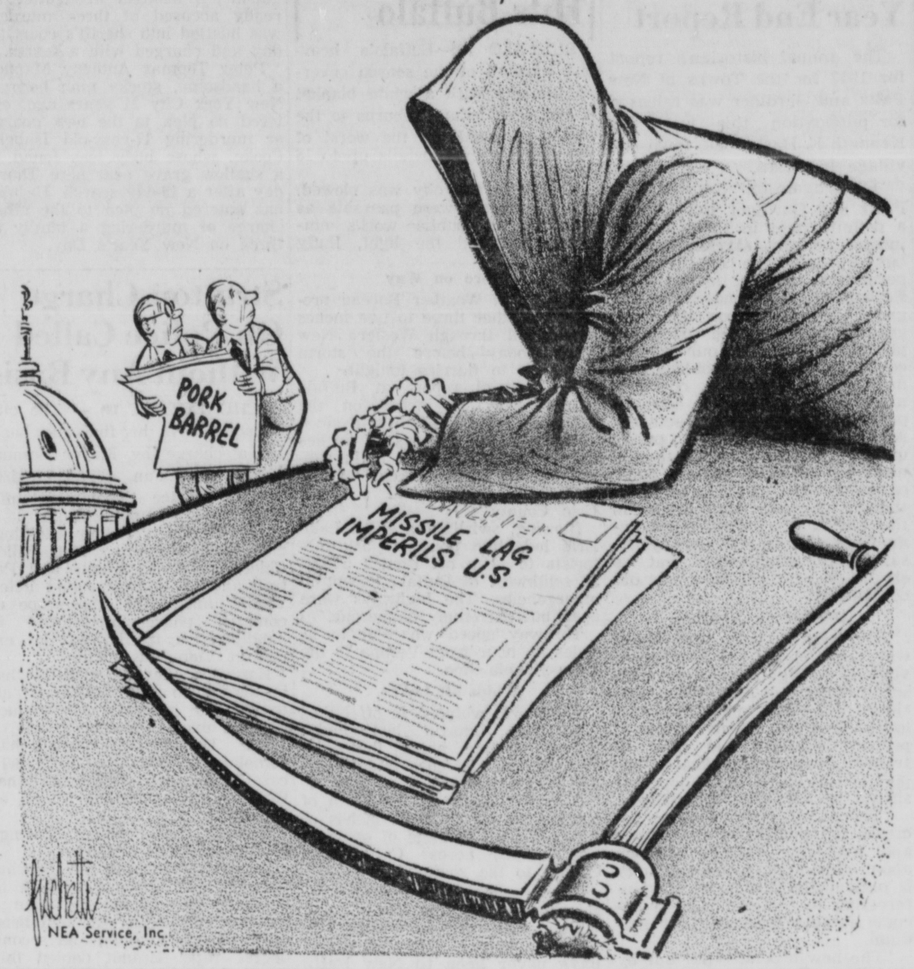
THE QUESTION OF climate often comes up. Many victims of bronchiectasis would benefit from residing in a warm, dry climate, if possible. However, an extremely high altitude is probably undesirable for someone with bronchiectasis since it puts an additional strain on the heart and lungs.

Surgery is the preferred treatment for many of those with bronchiectasis, especially when the condition is advanced. The part of the lung affected with bronchiectasis can be removed by surgery pretty successfully and this has undoubtedly saved many lives. For those who are unfortunate enough to have developed an advanced type of bronchiectasis surgery offers the only good means of restoring health.

Since bronchiectasis results from a long-continued cough of almost any origin, prevention by correcting such a situation early is highly desirable.

If nations could be persuaded to center their rivalry on striving for peace rather than power, the world would be getting some place.

"Odd---I Was Thinking of Your Constituents, Too"



Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The new 73.9 billion-dollar budget which President Eisenhower has just sent to Congress for fiscal 1959 illustrates how much the mood of the country has changed in the last year.

In January, 1957, former Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey warned that if the upward trend of government expenses were not promptly stopped there would be inflation and a depression "that would curl your hair."

This stirred up one of the biggest economy drives in the history of the country. Congress lopped from four to six billion dollars off government appropriations.

In spite of this, supplemental appropriations for new missile and defense programs now make it appear that government expenditures will be 72.8 billion dollars for the year ending this June 30. This will be just a billion dollars more than the budget which went to Congress a year ago, and which everyone thought was five billion dollars too high.

BUT NOW COMES THE administration with its proposal for a 73.9 billion-dollar budget for the year beginning next July 1 and ending June 30, 1959. It's the biggest peacetime budget.

It is two billion dollars more than the budget prepared a year ago and a billion dollars more than expenditures anticipated for the current fiscal year.

Actually, a four-billion dollar increase in defense expenditures is cut down two billion dollars by economies to be effected in other departments of government.

How much further will Congress be able and willing to economize on this budget?

And if Congress not only refuses to cut this budget but also increases defense appropriations for still more missiles, will this signal the start of the inflation and depression that Mr. Humphrey tried to warn about a year ago?

The country is already admittedly in a period of readjustment or recession or whatever you want to call it. But this is not now attributed to inflated government expenditures. It is more of a recession or deflation, which was not anticipated.

NOBODY COULD BE ANY cagier than the new Secretary of Treasury Robert B. Anderson in discussing the new budget.

He will give no precise predictions on whether taxes and the national debt ceiling will have to be raised to meet the new increased costs of national defense.

He will not even make an estimate on what the national income and gross national product will be next year to raise the 74.4 billion dollars in taxes which the government hopes to collect to cover expenses of the 73.9 billion-dollar budget.

All Secretary Anderson will say is that this country has the ability to provide whatever we need in the way of national security, and that this can be done on a pay-as-we-go basis.

Secretary Anderson won't even say whether present taxes are too high or not. All he will admit is that "they're high."

In the absence of enlightenment in such totally inadequate analyses as these, the administration's budget philosophy and fiscal policy have to be subjected to a certain amount of speculation.

IT WOULD APPEAR THAT the administration anticipates the two to four billion dollars' worth of new defense spending will reverse the recession somewhat. It will create jobs.

This will help increase national income and gross national product. Normal population growth and the constantly expanding American economy which everyone counts on will also contribute to this development.

The hoped-for result is that national income will contiue to rise and rise fast enough to provide tax revenues which will meet the constantly increasing costs of national defense.

To a degree, this is seen as an effort to spend the country back to prosperity. This is a charge which the Republicans used to make against Democratic administrations.

But the Eisenhower administration is not relying on deficit financing to achieve this result. It still hopes to obtain a balanced budget in 1959, though only by the slim margin of half a billion dollars.

As long as there is any surplus at all, however, the budget is not inflationary. In this respect it is considered sound.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

There are so many unpleasant things happening it seems daily and one is kept so busy just getting by through the day that reading something pleasant becomes a rare occasion. I want to share with my reader some of the pleasant memories.

The following is a quote from one of my favorite authors on the Hudson River "I attend to my own boat and nobody else's.' Captain Absalom L. Anderson, who spoke those words, did indeed attend religiously to his own boat. Further, he cared for her with pleasure and pride and lavished upon her every sort of attention, for he loved her. Other people's steamboats! There was little about them to distract him, because, as far as he was concerned, his was the finest that had ever turned a wheel. The people who agreed with him were legion, for his steamboat was Mary Powell." This is from Part I of "Queen of the Hudson" by Donald C. Ringwald, a Kingstonian Hudson River historian whose collection of Hudson River steamboat photos and data is so vast and his love for the river and ability as a writer which he is able to combine into perfect gems of articles used in such magazines as "The American Neptune."

In his younger days Mr. Ringwald worked on the river boats. He saw the sunsets and sunrises and he loved the boats when the river was full of them and was able to photograph some of them himself while they were moving against picturesque backgrounds of the Hudson.

I am sure by now many folks who also loved the river boats know of Donald Ringwald's articles. The articles on the Mary Powell are in "The American Neptune" a quarterly Journal of Maritime History of July 1934 and October 1954 for those who wish to see the pictures and read them further. The editor wrote of Mr. Ringwald's: "An enthusiastic student of the history of American steam navigation, is an authority on and the author of a number of articles on steam vessels of the Hudson River."

I am doing something that readers now and then allow themselves, that is turning to the back of the article or book first. I want to quote some of Mr. Ringwald's acknowledgments: "Mr. Elwin M. Eldredge, of Clermont, New York, for making available both his own voluminous file on Mary Powell and his unexcelled collection of pictures of the steamboat, and for reading the draft of the manuscript . . Capt. William O. Benson, of Sleightsburgh, N. Y., for access to his collection of material on Hudson River steamboats. Mr. W. duBarry Thomas of Woodstock, N. Y. for assistance in checking portions of the manuscript and for other aid. Miss Mary A. Schaeffer, libarian, and Miss Sarah Townsend and Mrs. Isabelle Hayden, assistant librarians, of the Kingston City Library, for their cooperation over the long period during which I have used the newspaper files in their custody." The above are just some of the names besides he lists the local, Hudson River and New York newspapers and gives the dates. Will quote more from the article soon, again.

Veterans Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director Veteran's Service Agency, and William Hartman, state veteran counselor NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, submit another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

Free Licenses—A NYS license registration fee does not have to be paid by certain veterans who receive free automobiles from the government because they were seriously disabled. WW 2 and Korean veterans are eligible for this NYS benefit if they received an automobile or other conveyance from the government because they lost or permanently lost the use of one or both feet, or one or both hands, or completely lost the sight of both eyes or have a permanent impairment of vision in both eyes to a degree as to constitute virtual blindness.

Civil Service—A person who receives civil service, railroad, or District of Columbia Police and Firemen retirement benefits whose annual income exceeds the annual income limitations of $1400 without dependents and $2700 with dependents (which apply in the case of non-service connected pensions) is permitted by law to waive a part of his retirement benefits so that he may be eligible to receive permanent and total non-service connected veteran disability benefits.

Education — A veteran in training under the Korean GI Bill will be paid additional training allowances for his wife and children on the basis of their relationship. The parents of a veteran or the husband of a female veteran, however, must actually be dependent on the ex-serviceman before additional money can be paid. Dependent brothers and sisters may not be considered for extra benefits under this law.

Pensions — Disabled Veteran's Income questionnaire forms were sent this year with the December 31 pension check. The new income questionnaire, VB 8-59 (test), is approximately the same size as the monthly pension check and is punched with holes so that it may be handled by machine. The information requested on the new form is about the same as that requested in previous years. Annual income questionnaires for widows and children, VB Form 8-685, were sent separately to them as in previous years. Regardless of the type of income questionnaire received, however, it must be returned to the issuing agency within 30 days of the date which appears on the form. Normally, only one income questionnaire form will be sent to persons who receive VA pensions for non-service connected disabilities or non-service connected deaths. If a questionnaire is not returned within 30 days by a veteran or his survivor his pension will be stopped until an income questionnaire is submitted. Assistance in completing these forms may be obtained from this agency. Only persons in receipt of non-service connected pensions must submit annual income questionnaires. Those persons who are receiving this type of pension can only continue to receive it if their yearly incomes are not more than $1400 without dependents and $2700 with dependents. Any veteran, widow or child receiving service-connected compensation does not have to file an annual income questionnaire because there is no limit by law to the amount he may earn and still receive compensation payments.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office at 32 Main Street, Kingston.

Urges $100,000 Outlay For Road Picnic Areas

ALBANY (AP)—A $100,000 program to develop small roadside picnic areas along state highways was proposed today by Assemblyman Grant W. Johnson.

The Essex County Republican said his bill would authorize the public works department to establish a "pilot" series of once-acre areas with tables, fireplaces and water and sanitary facilities.

Democratic Gov. Harriman vetoed similar Johnson bills in 1956 and 1957. They called for a $500,000 outlay.

Johnson said the areas would be close to cities and would "make family picnics fun instead of projects."

Association for Childhood Education Asks Conference With President on School Bill

Dorothy E. Smith, president of the Kingston Association for Childhood Education, has, on behalf of the local group, endorsed a recent statement made by Dr. Sarah Lou Hammond, president of the international association.

According to the release submitted to The Freeman by the Kingston group, Dr. Hammond is quoted as follows:

"The omission of provisions for elementary education in the Administration-sponsored education program outlined by Secretary Folsom is shocking. The new bill stressing mathematics and science overlooks the most important period of a child's life. The teaching of mathematics begins in the early grades, as does scientific exploration. What is done educationally in the years from kindergarten through the elementary grades profoundly influences the habits and attitudes carried into adult life." These statements were made by Dr. Sarah Lou Hammond, president of the Association for Childhood Education International, speaking on behalf of 80,000 teachers of elementary school children in the United States in a letter to President Eisenhower made public today.

The Association for Childhood Education International, founded in 1892, is composed of 88,000 members. Approximately 85,000 of these live in the United States and are teachers of children two to twelve.

It is in the elementary classes that the opportunity arises for developing the interests of potential scientists. But this fact is completely ignored in the administration's proposal for aid to education. Teachers of elementary school children are very much aware of this continuing national loss. This happens because children are in crowded classrooms with inadequate facilities, too few hours a day for their interests to be discovered and encouraged. We agree with the President that it is in the national interest to encourage potential scientists, but we can't afford the loss of future scientists because they are undiscovered in the elementary grades.

Members of the association have asked for a conference with the President to discuss the formulation of practical legislation.

DAR Hears Exchange Students Speak Here

Members of the Evening Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, listened wtih fascination to a description of home and school life in Germany today given by Miss Connie Kroeger, an exchange student under the American Field Service program, who is a member of the senior class at Kingston High School this year. As part of the same program, presented on Monday evening at the DAR Chapter House following a covered dish supper, Miss Beverly Castor described her trip to France as an American exchange student, last summer.

Miss Castor's stay in France was divided between two families, one in the Normandy area, and one near Orleans. At the conclusion of the trip was a week's visit in Paris. Miss Castor's talk was illustrated with a large and extraordinarily beautiful collection of slides; her views ranging from spectacular sunsets at sea to chateaux on the Loire, with white peacocks on the lawns. There were also pictures taken during her two week's stay at a Girl Scout camp in the Vosges Mountains, as well as views of other French cities. Members of the group were most impressed, however, by the great masses of flowers and flowering shrubs in public parks, squares and around public buildings, and also with the very modern buildings which have arisen out of the devastation of World War 2.

Education in Germany

Miss Kroeger, who spoke with considerable fluency and much charm, drew a somewhat amazing contrast between her school in Germany and school as she finds it in America. Miss Kroeger, at home, lives in a village of about 2,500 population in the State of Schleswig-Holstein almost on the Kiel Canal, where she says, "its like the whole world passes." To attend high school, she travels about 9 miles by bus, paying her own transportation, since there are no school busses. Her family is also required to pay for her books, which amounts to about $100 per year, since her studies cover some 17 subjects, including religion, history, geography, mathematics, physics, Latin, French, German, and English. Although only 16 years old, she has already studied English for six years. Her school day begins at 7:40 a. m. and ends at 1 p. m., and she has school six days a week. There is only one month's summer vacation. There are no study periods during school hours, with the result that homework can average four hours a night. There are few extra-curricular activities, no clubs and few dances. Many of the boys work on farms after school, hours, not only to earn money for their own school expenses, but also to contribute to their families' well being.

It is interesting to note that this year at KHS will not give Miss Kroeger any credit at all toward her graduation when she returns home; she will still have two years to complete in her own school. It is quite evident, however, that she is thoroughly enjoying her stay here and does not regret the loss of a year's credit in her home school.

In Germany, as Miss Kroeger pointed out, students who do not expect to go on to a university, do not attend high school. After completing grade school, they attend a vocational school for a year or two before seeking employment. No vocational subjects are taught in the regular high schools. Likewise students, who are not capable of doing creditable work on the high school level are "weeded out" by an examination which is prerequisite to attendance at a high school.

Arrangements for the supper which preceded the program were made by Miss Virginia Curtis, Mrs. Stuart S. Randall, Miss B. Isabel Herdman and Mrs. Charlotte Peck.

Good Suit Is Best Attack

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

East's hand really calls for a pass in third seat but match point duplicate players just don't pass 12-point hands in this position He opened one club and passed his partner's one spade response. South refused to be shut out and went to one no-trump. North chose to raise to two no-trump and that became the final contract.

	NORTH 18 ♠ K ♥ J 10 8 6 2 ♦ A J ♣ Q 9 8 6 5
WEST (D) ♠ Q 6 4 3 ♥ A 5 ♦ 7 5 4 3 ♣ 7 4 2		EAST ♠ A 10 9 7 ♥ 9 7 3 ♦ K Q 8 ♣ K 10 3
	SOUTH ♠ J 8 5 2 ♥ K Q 4 ♦ 10 9 6 2 ♣ A J

North and South vulnerable

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	1 N.T.
Pass	2 N.T.	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead—♣ 7

West opened a club. East ducked and South won the trick with the jack. He knocked out West's ace of hearts next and West returned a small spade. East won with the ace and led back the ten. West gathered in South's jack with his queen.

Now West made the killing play. He shifted to a diamond. This play established two diamond tricks for East and set the two no-trump contract one trick.

East and West thought they had a good score. North could have made three hearts and the best they could have done was to make two spades. It turned out that they had a bad score and it was all East's fault.

East had violated an important principle of duplicate which is that if you are going to open a poor hand in third seat attack with your best suit. East should have opened one spade.

West would have raised to two spades and North and South would have been nicely shut out of the bidding.

The defense could have gone in any one of a number of ways and did at the other tables where East opened one spade but in all cases when the smoke of the battle had cleared away East had made two spades for a plus of 110 instead of 100.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley Temple's Storybook made its debut this week, the first topflight series to mine the rating gold in fairy tales

One of the phenomena of the TV industry is that some of the biggest ratings have gone to stories that have heretofore been relegated to the nursery. So far, they have largely been one-shot spectaculars—"Peter Pan," "Cinderella," "Pinnochio," etc.

But the Temple series is putting fairy tales on an assembly-line basis. Sixteen will be shown this season, three live and 13 on film.

The series got off to a good start with "Beauty and the Beast." It was tastefully produced and convincingly acted by Claire Bloom and Charlton Heston.

The ancient French tale was told straight, with no songs and virtually no comedy. The only chuckle I recall was when the father, well played by E. G. Marshall, sampled the dinner laid before him by an unseen power. "Nectar! Ambrosia!" he rhapsodized as he tasted, then in a lower voice: "Sweet potatoes."

It would seem that if the producers aim at a mature audience as well as the kiddies, added values should be injected. Some lively songs and dances or spoofing comedy would help relieve the deadly seriousness of the stories.

Shirley Temple is an inspired choice as the hostess and narrator. She looks like a fairy queen, and her voice still has that little girl quality that sounds just right in telling a children's story. I'm happy to know she will be acting in some of the future tales. She is much too attractive to be wasted on emcee duties.

Fairy tales have been attacked by some educators as being dangerous. But on the whole, I view the return to fairy tales as a good thing. Heaven knows, our children are being reared on more than enough grim reality in today's world. They get enough of the spaces, both outer and wide-open.

All this rocket and six-shooter shooting is enough to spawn a generation of gun-shy neurotics. Why not give them some fairy tales to stimulate their imaginations?

Man Convicted In Slaying of His Young Bride

MAYVILLE (AP)—Donald Warner has been found guilty of second-degree murder in the slaying of his 18-year-old bride whose body was found crumpled in a bathtub.

A jury of 10 men and two women returned the verdict against the 22-year-old Jamestown factory worker last night after less than four hours' deliberation.

Warner was arrested Sept. 13 after he phoned from Oil City, Pa., to tell police he would surrender.

The body of his wife, Winnifred, was discovered the day before lying in water in the bathtub at her mother's home in Frewsburg.

Warner told police in a signed statement that he beat her with a board when she refused to leave with him. They had been married three months.

Sentencing has been set for Feb. 17. He faces a maximum penalty of 20 years to life in prison.

The trial opened in Chautauqua County Court here Jan. 9.

Final Rates Set

ALBANY (AP)—Final 1957 equalization rates have been established for 71 more towns, the State Equalization Board reported today.

There were no changes from the tentative rates established earlier.

The board said there were only 42 towns left for which 1957 rates have not been established.

Railroad, Union Officials Confer Again on Strike

SYRACUSE (AP) — Railroad and union officials today held their third day of negotiations to avert a strike of New York Central Railroad conductors.

They met for six hours yesterday but gave no indication afterward whether any progress had been made.

The talks are between Leo B. Fee, railroad vice president in charge of employe relations, and Val Simons, general chairman of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

A strike call was postponed early Thursday 10 minutes before it was to take effect.

Nearly 500 conductors on Central trains between Buffalo and New York city are involved in the protest over a layoff program involving the conductors.

New IBM Appointments

NITSCHKE HOBART McGREGOR

Three departmental appointments were announced this week at International Business Machines Corp., Kingston.

Norman E. Nitschke of Saugerties as project engineer in the tube group of product engineering's components laboratory.

Walter J. Hobert of Lake Katrine, as manager of second shift machine accounting at Military Products Division.

John E. McGregor of Poughkeepsie, as senior engineer in development engineering mechanical design and packaging.

Joined in 1955

Nitschke joined IBM in April 1955 as associate engineer in the laboratory and was named staff engineer in 1956. A graduate of Purdue University, he earned a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering and is a member of the Institute of Radio Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Eta Kappa Nu, the national engineering honor society and Sigma Xi and Tau Beta Pi societies. He and his wife, Miriam and two children reside on Spaulding Lane, Saugerties.

Hobert joined IBM as an accounting machine operator at Poughkeepsie, April 1951 and was transferred to Kingston plant February 1955. A graduate of Kingston High School, he served two years with the U. S. Army.

He and his wife, Phyllis and three sons reside at Schuler Lane, Lake Katrine.

McGregor joined the IBM organization at Poughkeepsie in 1951 as a design engineer in defense projects. Later he worked at the Vestal laboratory and at Poughkeepsie's product engineering department. He and his wife, Teresa and five children reside in Poughkeepsie.

Sound Control And Privacy

High square-foot cost of home construction today has had a marked effect on the size of the average house. Rooms are smaller and closer together without separating hallways that add dollars to the building price.

This means that today's family must live more closely together with less opportunity to find a quiet corner for rest and privacy than ever before.

One way to counteract the lack of privacy inherent in this close compactness is to treat rooms to sound conditioning.

A sound controlling ceiling lends a quality of tone to a budget conscious house while contributing to living comfort.

Acoustical ceiling, in the new fissured woodfiber design, adds a decorative note to rooms. This tile called Forestone looks like travertine and comes from the factory already painted.

Woodfiber acoustical tile is now available for installation by the homeowner. The tiles come in 12" by 24" sections, centerscored so that each resembles two 12" by 12" tiles. Tongue and groove edges and a wide nailing flange makes them easy to install with a stapler or nails. Forestone also is available for professional installation.

Carports Offer Storage Space

Carports not only give a home more sweeping lines when the roof sections are carefully designed, but they offer a wide variety of additional storage space.

One of the cleverest ideas of the season is the use of a free standing storage cabinet in two-car carports for a divider wall.

When designed in the same wood as the rest of the carport, the carport storage sections can become an attractive addition to most homes.

They offer a multitude of storage room. The fisherman-hunter can keep his more odorous gear out of the house, yet under lock and key. The same for golfers and other sports-minded men.

To give maximum utility, most of these storage walls are designed with sliding doors, to protect cars from bumping and scratching.

Of course, the storage walls, whether along the outside wall of the carport, or used as a divider section, should be finished to match the remainder of the exterior siding of the home, whether stained, painted, oiled or left natural.

Keep Paint Away From Weatherstrips

Don't paint over weatherstripping when you paint your window sash. The Weatherstrip Research Institute says paint on weatherstripping will cause windows to stick and bind. Use only a fine grade of steel wool to clean this running track. A little paraffin or a good grade of wax will keep it in working order.

Concealed Heating

Radiant panel heating is the most inconspicuous of all heating systems. Consisting of a series of pipe coils embedded in a floor slab or in the ceiling, the heating equipment is completely out of sight. However, in case anything goes wrong, it is necessary to do some tearing out to get at the pipes.

New Policy on Autos

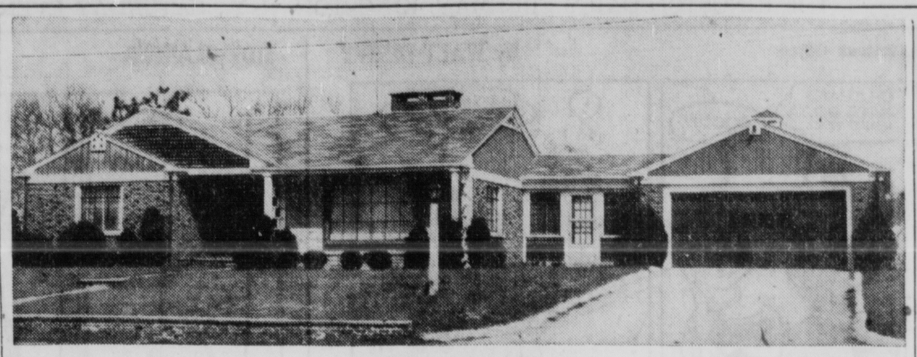
NEW YORK (AP)—New York State officials hope to save nearly one million dollars in purchasing new autos this year and to save an average of two cents a mile in operation and maintenance costs.

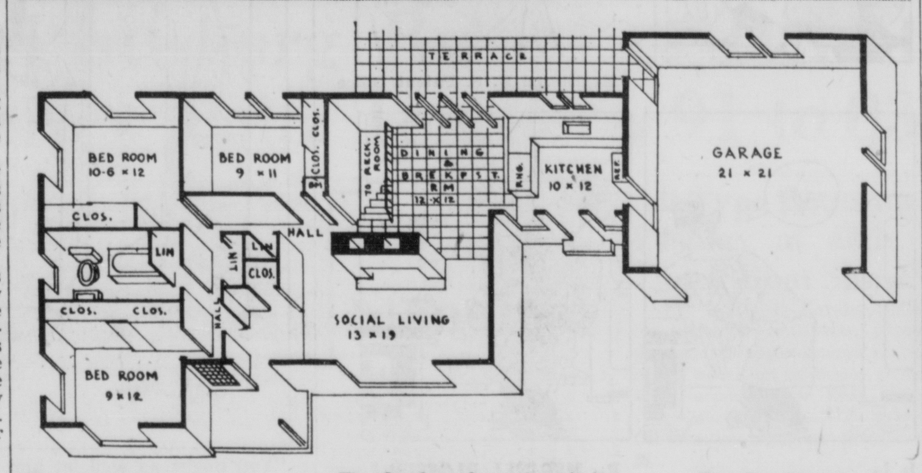
The savings are looked for from a policy decision to keep cars only one year, then replace them at high trade-in allowances.

The old practice was to operate a car three, four or five years before turning it in at a comparatively small trade-in price.

Charles H. Kriger, commissioner of standards and purchase, said last night that the new policy was adopted last fall.

The New York State Auto Dealers Inc. predicted that the state's trade-ins will glut the used-car market and start price cutting.





The 'Astor' . . . A Compact House Packed With Features

Rooms	Six
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Eight
Cubage	35,000 ft.
Dimensions	31'8" x 74'8"

The Home of the Week Plan Service today features the "Astor", a six-room house that contains many luxury features while at the same time providing the basic shelter needs of the average family.

The house has more than an average number of closets, eight all told, but it should be noted that three of them are either double or triple size, therefore providing more closet storage space than the number of such units indicates.

Sheltered Entrance

The entrance of the "Astor" is deep set and protected by roof construction extended outwards from the front bedroom ell.

Opposite the front door is the guest closet, while the foyer where this unit is located serves both the living room on one side and the bedroom service hall on the other.

The living room is 19 feet long by 13 feet wide and is located at the front of the house.

Fireplace Featured

The center of interest in the living room is a large fireplace centered at the rear of the room. To one side of the fireplace is the entrance to the dining room and breakfast area.

The fireplace, located as it is, serves as the partition between the dining area and the living room. Thus the attractiveness of the brick fireplace rear wall will face into the dining room.

The dining room is 12 feet square and is located at the rear of the house. The charm of informality can be obtained here by finishing the floor of this room with tile of some form, perhaps having a dash of color.

Another decorative structural note could be obtained in the "Astor" by installing a French door unit or at least a window wall with a glass door in the rear wall. A terrace consstructed at the rear of the house in this general area would thereby provide an attractive setting during meals at all seasons of the year.

Adjoining Kitchen

The kitchen of the "Astor" adjoins the dining area and is separated from the latter by a counter and base cabinet unit and the range.

In this way, the work counter will also double as a server from the kitchen into the dining room.

The kitchen of the "Astor" measures 10 feet by 12 feet and its work area is arranged in a U-shape with the base of the "U" along the rear wall.

The stairway to the basement, where a recreation room could be built, leads from the dining area and would best be protected by a wrought iron rail along the top of the stair well.

Two-Car Garage

In this plan of the "Astor," a two-car garage is specified, but if desired, this unit could be reduced to a one-car unit. Not only would such a change help reduce the "Astor's" construction costs, but it would also reduce the size of the lot required. The garage, as specified, is 21 feet square and contains one entrance to the rear yard or terrace, and another directly into the kitchen.

The three bedrooms are located to one side of the house, all beyond the living room.

The largest bedroom, in the rear corner of the house, is 10½ feet wide by 12 feet long. In the front corner of the house is the next largest bedroom which measures nine feet by 12 feet. Between these two bedrooms is the bathroom.

The third bedroom measures nine feet by 11 feet and is at the back of the house along with the master bedroom.

Each of the bedrooms has full storage walls, while the hall serving them contains two linen closets. A third linen closet is located within the bathroom proper.

Colorful Shingles Resist Hurricanes

A colorful shingle roof, said to be staunch enough to resist hurricanes, is now available to homeowners. These asphalt shingles, cut to the consumer-preferred square-butt style, actually seal themselves against high winds and driving rain.

The shingles have factory-applied bands of special asphalt adhesive which form a tough bond when the new shingled roof is exposed to the sun. Measured gaps in the adhesive insure that the sealing material will not show through cut-outs of the overlying shingles and also provide escape for moisture which may accumulate through condensation behind the seal.

A special shingle surfacing of fire-proof minerals not only insures fire and weather protection but also makes possible a variety of deep tones, pastels and blends to harmonize with today's colorful homes.

Caulking Compounds Shouldn't Be Thinned

Caulking compounds should be used as purchased—never thinned with oils or volatile thinners. Otherwise, a high degree of shrinkage and loss of adhesion will occur.

The ideal time to do a caulking job is summer through fall, because the compound should not be applied when the temperature is below 40 degrees.

Shelf With Stools Saves Kitchen Space

One of the best assets any home furnisher and decorator can have is a sharp eye for space—an ability to spot usable space where casual observation doesn't reveal it.

A wide shelf under a window and stools to fit under it take up very much less floor area than a table and chairs. It can set up a very pleasant beginning for the day, as a place to eat breakfast while enjoying a view outdoors.

Cabinets Line Up

Factory-made wood base units for modern kitchens are built to be joined together in any number suitable for a given kitchen area, presenting an unbroken, integral line of cabinets. This allows for installation of a one-piece countertop, providing an excellent work surface and eliminating crevices where food particles might collect.

Saugerties Corps Honors Drummer Clarence Lynk

Clarence Lynk, well known Saugerties musician and dartball enthusiast, oldest active drummer in Hudson Valley drum corps competition was honored Tuesday night at the annual banquet of Saugerties Drum Corps at VFW Hall on the occasion of his 75th birthday.

A gift from the corps was presented by Casper Miller, drum major, who served as toastmaster. Miller spoke of the many years Lynk had been playing with the local corps and pointed out that Lynk was a founder of the unit.

Lynk's recollection of his first drumming chore was at the age of 13 when he played at a military funeral in Catskill. Since then he has played with many musical marching units. He helped organize the Colonel's Drum Corps in Saugerties in 1912.

"Lynkie," as he is known to the community has been a familiar sight in Saugerties parades for the past 60 years.

More than 60 members and friends of the organization were served dinner by the Auxiliary of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW.

Tillson

TILLSON—The regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company was held Wednesday, Jan. 15, the meeting having been postponed the previous night due to the storm.

Chief L. Dyer reported the company responded to a mutual aid call and sent the tank truck to High Falls Wednesday morning to stand by at the fire which gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Pagliaroni. During the past month there were no fires within the Tillson fire district.

Officers of the company will meet with Central Hudson officials this week to determine the best way the local company can extinguish a fire should it break out at the Sturgeon Pool dam.

Members of the board of education were present and a discussion of the use of the building for school classrooms took place. Following the business session, refreshments were served. Due to the absence of the president, recording secretary Hollis Harvey presided at the meeting.

Religious Rock 'n' Roll

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Employes of the Baptist Book Store, in a hurry to get to a religious workshop, scooped up a bunch of religious records that had just arrived.

At the workshop, they stacked them on a record player and sat back to listen.

Suddenly, they were all startled by a jumping Elvis Presley song. No one could figure out how the Presley record got into the religious stack.

DuBois Sparks Attack For Maroons 88-53 Win

Roosevelt High cagers rang up field goals last night as if they were going out of style as they humiliated Saugerties High School 88 to 53, in a DCSL encounter at Hyde Park.

The Sawyers never had a chance against Coach Larry Lewis' squad which got off to a 24-17 lead in the first quarter and continued to pour it on as the game rolled on.

The big gunner for the Dutchess squad was Bruce DuBois who contributed 30 points to the rout and handed the Sawyers its second straight shellacking They were soundly drubbed last week by Arlington.

The Maroon, however, had some of the starch taken out of them by Wappingers Falls last night as the Jordanmen dropped their first league contest.

Coach Bud Smith's squad, generally a high scoring combine, failed to keep up the pace in the second and third quarters, hitting nine points in each stanza. That enabled the Parkers to move out of reaching distance as they racked up aggregate scores of 19 and 27.

Naccarato Stymied

One of the main reason's for the sound pasting can be attributed to the inability of Jack Naccarato who tallied only one field goal. Naccarato has a 15 point average, but he was checked closely and was unable to hit with the defense stacked up around him. Donny Mormille and Barry Wolven shared scoring honors for the Smithmen with 12 points.

Fred Weiss contributed 23 points and with DuBois' high for the season, tallied enough points to play the Ulster squad to a stalemate. Glenn Santmire had 15 and Jimmy Gilbert 12 to add to the rout.

Arlington's juniors beat Saugerties third team 53 to 16. Coach Bill Straub set the first two squads down for a week for violation of rules. Carl Klaproth was high man with 19. Barry Morgan had 12 of Saugertiess points.

Fino Sparks 64 to 44 Win Over Wallkill

Marlboro High's basketeers came out of their shell last night and lashed out with an avalanche of field goals which buried Wallkill, 64 to 44 on the 'Boro's hardwoods. The victory enabled Coach Joe Cash's quintet to break a four-way deadlock in the UCAL and temporarily go into a two-way tie with Rondout Valley.

Onteora Central (2-1) trailed by one game in the win column, having had its Thursday night game with Highland postponed because of inclement weather. The Indians were idle last night.

Marlboro displayed a different brand of ball last night than they did in losing to Valley. On the other hand, the Blue Devils failed to possess any of the sharpness which got them by Ed Witko's Indians a week before.

It was the Boro all the way as they took a 14 to 11 first period lead and then proceeded to keep its opposition behind in subsequent quarters. The Thompsonmen were never in contention once the winners got out in front.

While Fran Fino (17), Darryl Eckert (14) and Doug Swartz (14) were doing everything right to file the win, the opposition could not find itself or cope with the scoring of the three cagers who combined for 45 points. Fino led the way with 17 and the other two contributed 14 each.

Gene Bilboa, who has been the club's ace scorer during the winter campaign had 16 points. Henry Hecht had eight and Greg Van Duser had seven.

Wallkill's junior varsity, however, managed to salvage the curtain raiser and increased its winning skein to 15 straight over a two-year period. They won 40 to 32.

Ken Rumsey led the surge with 14 points, but high scoring honors for the contest went to Marlboro's Frank DeMarco who canned 17.

Plattsburg Rallies to Defeat New Paltz Teachers, 91 to 83

An eight-point outburst in the last two minutes of play spelled defeat for New Paltz Teachers College last night as it dropped a 91 to 83 thriller to Plattsburgh Teachers at New Paltz.

Sharpshooting Mike Kubie and Jack Potter proved the homesters' nemesis in that final canto as they alternated field goals to single handedly hand the locals their second straight setback.

The game was nip and tuck from the start until Kubie started to hit on a combination of jump and one-handed set shots. He canned 18 of his 28 points in the second half and with Potter, who had 22, this combination was more than Paltz could cope with.

John Hussnatter and Sol Goldin were doing well in keeping the locals in the thick of the race until the enemy combination showed up with its hot hand.

The lead changed hands at least 12 times before Plattsburgh went out in front to stay at the four-minue mark. The homesers had a 64 to 63 lead at that time, but it could never come through with enough of a foundation to put the tilt on ice.

Trailing 43 to 40 at halftime, New Paltz sparked by Hussnatter, Goldin and Milo Dalvey took a five point lead after eight minutes in the final heat. However, the visitors pecked away at the lead and had an eight-point string near the end which salted the victory away.

Knicks Unseat Warriors In NBA Eastern Division

By The Associated Press

The New York Knickerbockers have succeeded the Philadelphia Warriors in the cellar of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division

Last night, Philadelphia whipped the Knicks 117-116 in the opener of a NBA doubleheader at Boston, prior to a 120-99 victory for the Celtics over Syracuse.

In a doubleheader at Detroit, the Pistons snapped Cincinnati's five-game winning streak 115-94 after Minneapolis, winning its 10th in 41 starts, edged St. Louis' Western Division leaders 112-110 in overtime.

High Scoring Eleven

WELLINGTON, Colo. (AP) — The high school eleven in this northern Colorado farm town scored 360 points in rolling undefeated through seven league games, including 180 tallies in the final two games. Quarterback Jim Lesback scored 125 points himself.

Middies Blast Fallsburgh by 82 to 42 Count

After a low scoring first quarter, Middletown High turned on the steam and dealt Fallsburgh its seventh straight DUSO league defeat, 82 to 42 on its home court.

The 'Burghers took a 6-4 first period lead, but that turned out to be a tease as the Middies started to hit with consistency and walked off the floor at halftime with a 32 to 15 lead.

Coach Bob Markes used 13 players, his entire bench, in registering his second win. John Price led the scoring attack with 17 points. John Barber and Don Springstead had 15 apiece. Herb Gold had 8 for 'Burgh.

Rip New Paltz By 63 to 43 on Bill Smith's 18

Rondout Valley High School left no cause for doubt in the minds of UCAL fans that it definitely is in the thick of the league basketball race with its convincing 63 to 43 victory over New Paltz last night on the latter's court.

Coach Chick Meehan's charges duplicated a performance similar to the one which shocked Marlboro High last week, displacing the Cashmen from the unbeaten ranks, as it mauled the Huguenots in recording its third victory and imbedded Coach Larry Johnson's quintet further in the league cellar.

With the exception of a pushing setto between Valley's Bill Bendell and Frank Oliver, which resulted in a double foul, there was little in the form of excitement. Valley took an early lead and increased its point spread throughout.

Bill Smith provided the offensive spark which ignited the Valley scoring machine with an 18-point output. Bill Bendell contributed 12 and the team's entire bench, with the exception of two players, broke into the scoring column. Coach Meehan exercised his entire bench in stashing away the triumph which puts the team into a first place deadlock with Marlboro.

The closest the Huguenots came to the Valley lead was 10 points, and that was at the intermission, 28 to 18. The winners gloated on a 24 point edge at the third period. The losers' best effort was in the final stanza when they outscored its opposition, 18 to 14.

Floyd Diedolf displayed his best seasonal performances both in the scoring department and defensively. He potted 15 points and with Oliver came up with a good share of the rebounds.

Rondout's junior varsity, paced by Johnson's 16 points won 51 to 31. Barry Upright and Dave Oliver with eight points each led the losers.

Indians 'Freeze' Pays Off, Pigliacampi Stars

Wappingers Falls High, supposedly a weak sister in the Dutchess County Scholastic League, pulled the season's upset last night by defeating its arch rival Arlington High, 60 to 52 on the latter's court.

It was the first league setback for Coach Fritz Jordan's crew which had gotten by Saugerties last week in convincing fashion and surely gave the impression it would breezze through the rest of its league schedule.

Coach Dave Beverly had different plans. He let the opposition play his type of game and this bit of strategy in the third quarter paid off, because that period proved the Maroon's downfall.

Falls Take Lead

Holding a 29 to 27 lead at half time, the Indians took the lead at the six minute 33 to 31 on a layup by Jack Case. After that the Indians refused to bring the action to Arlington which was playing a standing zone game. The Falls moved the ball in the back court and had possession most of the time, limiting the Maroon to only a field goal by George Thorne during that time, while the visitors came through with nine, six by Julie Piglacampi, who was the game's top scorer with 29 points.

The closest Arlington came to the opposition's lead after the fourth period got underway was five points, but that was not good enough as Pigliacampi and Bruce Stickter moved their squad out of reaching distance.

Jerry Anderson started out like a whizzer in the first quarter, canning 12 of his team's 19 points, but he cooled off and registered only three after that. George Thorne was top man with 15.

Riley Pots 30 As Newburgh Blasts Monties

Led by Roy Riley's 30 points, Newburgh Free Academy clobbered Monticello, 77 to 41 on its home court last night to register its fifth win in the DUSO. For the Monties it was their fourth setback against two wins.

The Goldbacks were never in jeopardy as they moved from an 18 to 10 first quarter lead to 37-22 at halftime. Dick LaGoy and Jack Coonan with 18 and 15 added to Riley's 30, was more than enough to give NFA the nod. Glick was top man for the losers with 13.

Bums Finally Made It, Play In Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Well, they finally ran off the last reel of the biggest cliffhanger produced hereabouts since "The Perils of Pauline." The surprise ending shows Walter O'Malley sealing the precipitous walls of the Coliseum, followed by a lot of men in baseball suits.

The relieving finale to the oftenmuddled drama was made possible yesterday when the commission that runs the Coliseum decided, at last, to let the Los Angeles Dodgers play there in 1958 and 1959.

It was an ending that few could have visualized a week or so back. It looked then as though the Dodgers were doomed to confinement in Wrigley Field, which would have become the second smallest park in the major leagues.

Instead, it is just possible they will open next April 18 before the largest crowd ever to watch a baseball game. They have 101,000 seats to play with, and would beat the record if they could come within 16,000 or so of filling them. The record is 84,587 for an American League doubleheader in Cleveland Sept. 12, 1954.

After the grueling meeting that produced the agreement yesterday, O'Malley observed that the unanimous vote giving him a two-year lease on the big stadium "ended my longest losing streak."

"We're delighted," he said. "We look forward to a terrific ticket sale."

The deal provides, among other things, that the Dodgers will guarantee to come up with $200,000 rent a year. All the money the Coliseum takes in from concessions will be credited to the Dodgers' rental account, and the Dodgers will keep anything over $200,000.

Johnson Eyes Future Match With Champion

By BOB POWELL

SYRACUSE (AP) — Light heavyweight Harold Johnson has prescribed "more work" for himself and has his eye on another title shot at Champion Archie Moore, "but not right away."

The smooth-swinging veteran of 11 years appeared unimpressed with his one-sided victory over Bert Whitehurst of Baltimore last night in their 10-rounder. Johnson was a unanimous victor, despite giving away 20 pounds. Whitehurst weighed in at 196.

"He's a tough man to fight," the Philadelphian said in his dressing room. "It wasn't his weight that bothered me, but his style." Whitehurst fought from a crouch position.

Johnson indicated he would like to meet Syracuse's newest heavyweight find, Mike DeJohn, but the latter declined comment.

Judge Harold McGrath scored it 7-1-2 in favor of Johnson and Judge Richard Albino called it 7-2-1 for Johnson. Referee Joe Palmer saw it 6-3-1 and the Associated Press card gave it to Johnson on a 5-3-2 decision.

A crowd of 1,077 paid $1,832 to see the rematch of the pair. Johnson had defeated Whitehurst on a split decision two years ago.

It was the victor's 57th triumph in 65 fights and Whitehurst's 12th setback against 24 victories and two draws.

The fight was broadcast and televised.

Local boy Al Simmons, 134, led off the preliminaries with the evening's only knockout.

The Syracusan flattened Carl Schroeder, 132, of Rome at 1:48 of the second of a four-rounder.

In other preliminaries:

Moses Walder, 175½, Syracuse, outpointed Robbie Bowls, 178, Buffalo, in four rounds.

Lee Bohles, 131, Buffalo, stopped Lew Ciavaglia, 131, Lewiston, in the second of six.

Paul Barkal, 154, Syracuse, outpointed Tommy Shelton, 158, Ithaca, in four.

Gene Tortorice, 145, Niagara Falls, outpointed Frank Medley, 143, Brooklyn, in six.

Tommy Holmes, 146½, Binghamton, outpointed Henry Berry, 150, Syracuse, in four.

Liberty Still Unbeaten, Rips Ellenville, Port Jervis Cops

Ellenville High coach, Chuck Walsh, probably saw two swift moving figures before him during the night as he tried to sleep off his team's 76 to 48 lacing to the league leading Liberty cagers last night at Liberty.

Those nightmarish figures were John Lawrence and Josh Gerow who single-handedly stuffed enough points througt the baskets to hand the Ellies its sixth setback. They have won one.

The victory gives the Redskins a 6-0 record and are trailed by Port Jervis 5-1, which defeated Poughkeepsie 72 to 61. In other DUSO scores, Newburgh belted Monticello 77 to 41 and Middletown drubbed Fallsburgh 82 to 42.

John Lawrence, probably the league's leading scorer after his 32 point performance, hit 13 times from the field and racked up six out of seven charity tosses for his best individual display this season. He got plenty of help from Gerow who canned 22.

Port Rally Sinks Bridge City, 72-61

Poughkeepsie High was unable to shake Port Jervis in the final three minutes of play as the Red Raiders pulled away for a very important 72 to 61 victory at home.

Alex Osowick, Port's one-man wrecking crew and Bill Pepper gave the Bridge City squad a lesson in field goals in a short span of time that they won't forget for a long time.

Trailing by four with only three minutes in the contest, Osowick and Pepper collaborated for 22 points to turn the contest into a rout.

Osowick, who tallied 27 accounted for 12 of the points and Pepper got 10 of his 13 total in that hectic 180 seconds.

The Pioneers made a good fight of it until then. Dick DePew, Pat McKenna and Deke Johnson kept the Kallock quintet in the thick of things with a combination of 43 points, with DePew's 18 high.

British heralds recognize only five colors for coats of arms: red, blue, black, green and purple. Yellow and white in coats of arms are not colors, but represent the metals gold and silver.

Cincy-Billikens Match Tops College Cage Bill

The Associated Press

A couple of conference races figure to get the kids off the street tonight in college basketball.

In the Southeastern, ambitious Tennessee, a newcomer to the Associated Press rankings this week, goes for broke against Kentucky, the No. 9 team nationally. Both are unbeaten in SEC play, with Kentucky 11-3 over-all and Tennessee, ranked 13th, 10-1.

In the Missouri Valley, were only St. Louis remains unbeaten, the Billikens put up or shut up against Cincinnati and Oscar Robertson at St. Louis. The Bills, unranked, took the lead with a 71-70 victory over 10th-ranked Bradley Wednesday, and things should be even tougher against the Bearcats and Oscar, the nation's leading major college scorer.

Cincinnati is ranked fifth with an 11-2 record. Bradley plays Drake in another Mo-Valley game tonight.

Only three other members of the top 10 are in action, with top-ranked and unbeaten West Virginia taking it easy.

Kansas State (No. 2) plays Oklahoma, and Kansas (No. 3) meets Missouri in a pair of Big Eight contests while North Carolina (No. 6) plays Clemson in an afternoon match in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The collegians, shelving play for the next two weeks because of classroom examinations, had only a light schedule last night.

Wyoming took the Skyline lead by defeating Utah State 71-70 on Don Carlson's free throw after the final buzzer while Brigham Young knocked off Colorado State U. 90-80 behind John Nicoll's 23 points.

Texas A & M's control ball defeated Southern Methodist 44-36 in the Southwest, with Bob Johnson hitting a jump shot that gave the Aggies the lead for good in the final minutes.

Princeton took second place in the Ivy League with a 74-60 victory over Columbia. Penn defeated Cornell 77-60.

Helpful Official

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP) — Tommy Tyrell said he has watched a lot of high school basketball games but never saw an official do what was done at the Chickasha-Anadarko contest. The official spotted a player executing an illegal screen play, so he stopped the game. However, instead of calling a foul, he showed the boy how to do the play properly.

Saugerties Town Youth Council Meeting Jan. 22

The rescheduled reorganization meeting of the Town of Saugerties Youth Council will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Saugerties Village Clerk's office, Partition Street.

Cornelius Cox, village police commissioner, has accepted the invitation to join the council, according to Albert J. Cawein, secretary pro tem.

Should Belong

In accordance with the bylaws of the council as recommended by the State Youth Commission, the police commissioner should be a member of the Youth Council.

The executive committee has been working all month to bring the council up to its full membership strength of 18. At present less than 10 members are active.

"Since the release of our meeting notices we have heard from quite a few interested citizens, and they have been invited to the meeting," Cawein said.

"We anticipate that the council will have a representative from the Saugerties District Boy Scouts and the Saugerties Council Camp Fire Girls," he said.

Seek Reputable Persons

According to the constitution and by-laws of the incorporated group, membership is open to all persons of good repute, who reside in or who have business or professional interests in the township, and whose qualifications are satisfactory to the membership. The original purpose of the organization was to have representation from each of the 10 election districts.

The express function of the group was to coordinate, foster and supplement the activities of public and private agencies devoted in whole or in part to the welfare of youth in and about the township, in a broad program directed towards the prevention of delinquency and waywardness.

'It's Life Anew' Says Double X

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Foxx, in his own words, "is beginning life anew" at the age of 50, but the Hall of Famer still carries cherished memories of his glorious past on the baseball diamond.

Brought here to appear on a nation-wide television show after it had been revealed that he was broke and destitute despite his quarter-of-a-million-dollar baseball earnings, Foxx recalled some of his batting exploits when he was riding herd on the American League pitchers.

"I had some pretty good years in baseball," the former home run and batting king said without a trace of a boast. "But I think my best year was 1938 when I drove in 175 runs, hit 50 home runs and led the league with a .349 batting average.

"The year everyone remembers most, however, is 1932 when I hit 58 home runs to fall two shy of equalling Babe Ruth's home run record for a single season."

Delaney Is Choice In K of C Mile Run

BOSTON (AP)—Ron Delaney, ailing back and all, remained the pick for his 1958 indoor mile debut in the Knights of Columbus track meet tonight.

Delany, the Olympic, 1,500-meter champion from Dublin by way of Villanova, has a sciatic nerve condition which has thrown off his timetable of preparations for the season.

Delany, however, still was the choice of the experts to rule the six-man field in this 32nd K. of C. classic at the Garden and to preserve his record of never having lost an indoor race.

John Telford of Wayne and Yale freshman Tom Carroll may pull upsets at the shorter distances, experts believe.

Wetzel to Be Buried In Mississippi Plot

PARCHMAN, Miss. (AP)—William Wetzel, New York badman who spent the last years of his life in the state prison and died in the gas chamber for murder, will be buried in a small town near here today.

Mayor Tom Pitts of Indianola said the city would provide a plot for the 33-year-old Wetzel, who was executed early yesterday for a prison slaying.

Wetzel went to his death still protesting innocence in the fatal throat-slashing of Edgar McGraw in a prison field in 1953.

Wetzel's mother, Mrs. Ida Wetzel of Seneca Falls, N. Y., arrived at the prison with her daughter 10 hours after the execution. She had spent most of Thursday with Wetzel and returned to the prison from Vicksburg thinking the execution would be in the afternoon.

Soviet Ships Due At Midway Monday

HONOLULU (AP) — The first two Russian ships to call at Midway Island since it became an American base are expected there Monday.

The grain steamers Gen. Panfilov and Odessa, bound for Vladivostok from Vancouver, B. C., headed there after the Navy oiler Ashtabula reached them last night. They were 400 miles northwest of Midway, where the Navy is building a highly classified early warning air patrol wing base.

The Navy on Thursday granted special permission for the two Soviet vessels and a British freighter to put in at Midway for refuge from a North Pacific storm and repairs.

The two Russian vessels and the British freighter reported they were low on supplies and water after battling the storm.

Flares, SOS Spur Hopes for Plane

GUAM (AP)—Spurred by reports of flares, faint radio signals, and mirror flashes, searchers today continued their hunt for a B50 weather reconnaissance plane that vanished in typhoon Ophelia on Wednesday.

Ten airmen were aboard the bomber, last heard from as it headed toward the typhoon 600 miles north of here. The craft was stationed here.

The U. S. ammunitionship Firedrake reported sighting flares at 1:58 a. m. in the search area. Two red flares and one white were sighted in the same area at 2:35 a. m.

The Navy destroyer escort Moore and an air rescue squadron plane both reported hearing a radio distress call, possibly from a hand-operated radio such as those carried by the missing craft.

Marbletown P-TF Sets Spelling Bee Program

A spelling bee will highlight the P-TF program Wednesday, 8 p. m. at Marbletown Elementary School.

Students from the seventh and eighth grades will be the participants. Last winter the P-TF Club featured the spelling bee program and, it was so enthustically received that a repeat performance was requested by this year's program committee. The public is invited to attend.

Bus Goes Over Bank to Avoid Hitting Train

PERRY, Akr. (AP)—The driver of a school bus loaded with 35 boy and girl basketball players made an agonizing split-second choice at a rail crossing here last night and sent his vehicle hurtling down a 16-foot embankment rather than hit a speeding train.

Miraculously, only five youngsters and a coach were injured—none seriously.

Bus driver Charlie Upton told officers his lights picked out the shapes of freight cars moving across the highway while his vehicle was still some distance from the railroad crossing.

He tried to slow down and stop but his brakes failed.

Then he swung the wheel and the bus plunged off the highway and down the embankment. The vehicle struck the stanchions of a railroad trestle but did not overturn.

As terrified girls screamed about him, Upton got the door open and the students poured out. All of the injured were able to leave the bus without aid.

Upton was badly shaken but unhurt, Sheriff Lloyd Rankin said.

Lodge Aboard Disabled Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, was aboard an air liner that developed landing gear trouble last night after takeoff from National Airport. The plane circled for two hours before making a safe landing.

All told, the Eastern Airlines plane carried 89 passengers.

A spokesman for Eastern said the left landing gear of the plane would not completely retract after takeoff. The pilot circled the Washington area for two hours to consume fuel and make the plane lighter for landing.

Indians to Stay, Ignore Eviction From Farm Land

FORT HUNTER (AP)—Mohawk Indians camped on farm land here say they will ignore an eviction order.

Chief Standing Arrow said yesterday a grand council of the Six Nations of the Iroquois confederation would be called soon to decide what the Indians are to do.

The band of Mohawks moved here last spring when their reservation land in Northern New York and near Montreal was taken over for St. Lawrence Seaway construction.

They claim the land here belongs to them under an old treaty.

Wednesday, Montgomery County sheriff's deputies posted eviction notices on the longhouse and the half-dozen cabins constructed by the Indians.

The property owners, Elmer Buckman and William H. Dufel, had complained.

The Indians have been given 10 days to get out or face court action.

Kiwanis Is Given Talk on Cancer

The problem of cancer and its impact on the world today was the subject of an address by Dr. Milton Grover of the local labratory, appearing before the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Dr. Grover pointed up the seriousness of the disease of cancer by reporting the deaths of over two and one-half million persons in the past 12 years from this disease—with 250,000 deaths attributed to it during the last year. He emphasized this staggering total with the observation of the loss in services to the country of promenient people who died from cancer.

Differs in Form

The speaker cited various facts concerning cancer, stating that it differed in form between young and old persons, and that the leading cause of death from disease is currently listed in the five to 15 year age brackets as cancer.

Ignorance of the basic causes and the "root of the troubles" was given as a reason for the high toll of deaths due to cancer, said Dr. Grover. He further explained that continuous research was revealing that exposure to the elements seemed to influence cancer, and that various customs and habits are chronic irritations that cause cancer. In New York State, the speaker revealed that cancer of the skin ranks first in the number of cases, while lung cancer takes second place.

The subject of smoking and its relation to cancer was discussed by Dr. Grover, who quoted various figures given in support of the theory that smoking is a cause of cancer, and others which seemed to indicate that smoking has little to do with cancer. Relative to the figures on smoking as a cause, Dr. Grover pointed out that research available from France indicated that alcohol might be the cause of cancer and that smoking did not seem to be a factor.

Cancer of the lung showed a definite increase at the turn of the century, according to Dr. Grover, who mentioned that this might have been caused by increased pollution of the air or other causes not determined.

Cure Outlook Brighter

On the brighter side of the picture, the speaker referred to figures available on the control of cancer. These figures showed that in 1935, 31 per cent of the cancer cases were cured, while in 1943 the number of cases cured had risen to 42 per cent. Breaking this down into further figures, Dr. Grover said that today one in three cancer cases can be cured, while a few years back the number was one in four.

Cancer Society Unit Offers Film Showing

Mongrel Shows Thanks

KENTFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Six weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. David Wayne read in a newspaper that Skipper, a black mongrel, would be put to death by a Humane Society unless he found a home. The Waynes gave him one.

Yesterday, Wayne, slightly overcome by smoke, was awakened by Skipper tugging at his pajamas. He aroused his wife, Margaret, an expectant mother, and they dashed to safety.

Firemen put out the blaze after it damaged the kitchen and back porch.

Woman Learns You Can't Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Rose D. Morris reluctantly gave up her 38-acre farm home at Burke, Va., when the government condemned the property in 1951 as a possible site for a second Washington airport.

She moved down the road and purchased a 72-acre place at Chantilly, Va.

Then Mrs. Morris got the sad news this week.

The government had decided to build the airport at Chantilly.

Rochester Town Board Trims Democrat Budget by $2,623

Departmental savings totaling $2,623 in the town budget as approved by the Democratic controlled Town of Rochester town board last November, were made at the January meeting of the new town board in a move to reduce town expenditures in every way possible and pay off the outstanding town debt.

The budget for 1958 town expenditures was approved prior to the present Republican controlled board taking office on January first. Several salary items in the budget were approved at a lesser amount than that provided for in the budget.

Fewer Constables

By unanimous vote of the board constables were reduced in number from 13 to three in an endeavor to save in that item. Since there are now only two justices of the peace instead of four as formerly, the board, it was stated, felt three constables were all that was necessary.

Reductions in the amount of $300 under the amount provided for in the budget were made in the salaries of each of the two justices and the salaries of each of the two councilmen was fixed at $600, instead of $900 as paid last year and provided for in the budget. A reduction of $168 was made in the appropriation for welfare officer and a $375 reduction in the multiple dwelling enforcement officer and inspector was effected by fixing the combined salary at $500, eliminating fees for the inspector. The welfare officer appropriation was set at $750.

Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger, who presided at the meeting, also abolished the office of confidential secretary and bookkeeper to the supervisor at a saving of $780 from the appropriation for his office. Any expense for such service will be personal to the supervisor.

Town Clerk Elsie E. Rider was designated by the town board to send news items of town business to the press.

The organization meeting of the board had been held on January 2 and the first regular meeting of the board was on Tuesday, January 9, with Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger presiding at his first town board meeting.

Appointments Made

The following appointments were made:

Welfare Officer, Lester Coddington; chairman of the board of assessors, Sam Waruch; enforcement officer and inspector for Multiple Dwellings, Raymond Wheeler; dog warden, Arthur Crose; town attorney, Saul Altholz; deputy town clerk, Percy W. Gazlay; grievance board for multiple dwelling, Lester Osterhoudt, Percy Greene, Max Geller, Nathan Trowbridge and William Anderson. Constables, Vernon Quick, James Allison, Joseph Every. Town historian, Mrs. Millard Davis. Civilian Defense director Fritz Apel.

Unpaid bills totaling $552.19 for 1957 were tabled for insufficient funds and bills in the amount of $837.57 were tabled due to lack of funds in the General Fund. Superintendent Richard Gray presented bills prior to December 31, 1957 in an approximate amount of $12,995 which had been turned in to him. The only legalized payment of such bills being by Special Act of Legislature, the board authorized Supervisor Terwilliger to seek such legislation so that these bills could be paid as the 1957 highway bugetary fund had been exhausted by payment of previous bills.

A member of the town board said later that well over $25,000 of highway bills for 1956 had been ordered paid from funds appropriated for 1957, creating a shortage for 1957 highway expenditures.

In accordance with the direction of the town board, on Wednesday Supervisor Terwilliger conferred with Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson on introduction of the necessary legislation at the opening session to legalize payment of the 1957 unpaid highway bills as provided for by law.

Bonds for elected and appointed officials of the town were approved.

Petition on water pollution of the Rondout Creek was presented to the town board and accepted by Supervisor Terwilliger. Petitions are also being filed with the town boards of Wawarsing, Marbletown and Rosendale by residents of those towns.

Various road complaints were heard by the board and conditions discussed. Superintendent Gray was authorized to contact the County Superintendent of Highways and endeavor to do all possible to correct or remedy conditions. Discussion was held on removal of business signs without notification as had taken place last year, and requests were made for information on the replacement of these signs.

There was a lengthy discussion on the unanimous vote of the board regarding reduction of number of constables and the work of services accomplished. Supervisor Terwilliger said he had talked with some of the former constables and had requested they be at the meeting if interested. None appeared.

Presents Wage Scale

Superintendent Gray also presented the wage scale for highway employes which was approved by the board. He reported that financial conditions of the town restricted his operations, but that during the snow storm he had covered the town with necessary plowing and sanding with three men and that if needed for more serious storms, sufficient men were available to cover the town highways. That statement was made to the board to correct a false report regarding plowing of roads in the event of serious storms.

To avoid conflicting with the regular meeting night of the board of supervisors, the date of the regular town board meeting was changed to the second Tuesday of each month at 8 p. m. at the town clerk's office. A short discussion was held on multiple dwelling laws and suggestions were made on reviewing and possibly revising the program.

BUFFALO (AP) — A bandit who walked into a branch bank yesterday with his arm in a sling and rushed out with $2,660 in his hands still was at large today

Yesterday's holdup of the Marine Trust Co. was Buffalo's third bank robbery in a month. The other bandits were caught within the hour.

According to Joseph Stasiak, 21, a teller, the man was a slightly built Negro in his early twenties.

Stasiak told police the robber cradled a pistol in his sling and handed over a note demanding bundles of $100, $50, $20 and $10 bills

Bahl Condition Good, Miss Pulverenti Fair

One person injured about midnight Friday in a two-car mishap near the city library on Broadway was reported in good condition today at Benedictine Hospital, and another was reported fair.

Miles Bahl, 22, of 336 Albany Avenue, was reported in "good" condition, and Mary Ann Pulverenti, 17, of Port Ewen, was described in "fair" condition.

A car, owned by the Ulster Tool and Die Works, 437 Washington Avenue, and driven by Anthony G. Pizzarelli, 42, of John Street, West Hurley, was headed north on Broadway, police reported.

The other car, owned and operated by Bahl, was headed south on the street.

Police said the Pizzarelli car, and not the Bahl car, as reported in last night's Freeman, skidded.

Pizzarelli, police said, was treated at Kingston Hospital for lacerations of the forehead and nose. Both cars were towed from the scene.

Charges Dropped

CORNING (AP)—The case against Roman J. Laurence, ousted as Corning police chief on charges of misconduct in office, has ended in his favor.

The four-man Corning Police Commission, with two new Democratic members, voted yesterday to drop court action and restore the former state trooper to his post Feb 1.

Laurence was suspended in October 1956, and discharged the following March. He denied the charges and appealed to the courts.

Supreme Court Justice Charles B. Brasser said that in dismissing Laurence, the commission has acted both as prosecutor and judge. He ordered Laurence reinstated.

The attempt to remove Laurence was made by the Republican administration that left office Dec. 31. The old commission had voted to appeal Brasser's order.

Your Life And Mine

By CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

AREN'T LEGS WONDERFUL!

Science, as we all know, has wrought miracles with transportation. If our forefathers had been told that the folks in the 20th century would be able to get around as fast and as comfortably as we do, they would have called it a fantastic dream. And now with the dawning of the space age, there looms before us the thrilling possibility of trips to other planets in the not-too-far-distant future. It is a far cry from the horse-and-buggy days to the modes of travel that are employed, and dreamed about, by men today. Legs are indeed "slow motion" compared to the speeds which are being attained in this jet and rocket age.

None of this progress, however, rules out our need for legs. We need these initial instruments of transportation just as much today as any folks ever did. Nothing science can produce to get us around from place to place ever will make legs dispensible. No matter how far or how fast we travel in the future, no one ever will be caught saying: "I don't need these God-given instruments of transportation any more." "Legs," as Jarrett and Palmer once put it, "are staple articles and will never go out of fashion while the world lasts."

Not all of the wonderful things in this world are thought up by the scientists or produced in laboratories and factories. It is still true, as it always has been, that the top priority wonders are God-given. Some of these wonders (a good serviceable pair of legs for example) are so much a part of our everyday routines of living that we often make the tragic mistake of forgetting how very precious they are. When we are so fortunate as to be blest with good health, and all of the mercies that attend it, it takes a mighty rugged discipline of mind and heart in order to keep ourselves keenly aware of the daily goodness of God.

Shortly before Christmas I received word that a seminary classmate of mine had had a tumor removed from her spine; and would never walk again. I sat down and wrote a check to help provide some expensive equipment necessary for her to adjust to her affliction and make a come-back as a teacher. After writing the check I leaned back in my chair and said to myself, as I glanced out of the window in a mood of agitated contemplation, "Aren't legs wonderful!" Instead of a check I wish I could have sent my friend a new pair of nature's normal legs. That, of course, is out. The next best thing was to help her, at least a little, in adjusting to a way of life that has to get along without legs.

Most of us take a good serviceable pair of legs for granted. They are so dependable and efficient that we forget we have them. Then something happens—we lose the use of them, or we get word, as I did, about a friend who will never walk again—and we are brought up with a start! Suddenly it is hammered into our heads that things like legs are not small mercies. They are among the most wonderful things God ever provided on this earth.
